ORANGE HIGH SCHOOL
HILLSBOROUGH, NORTH CAROLINA

Brinda, it has been

If one were to look on our town with its rich heritage and its abundance of historical landmarks, one would probably feel that our community occupied a suspended niche in time — that little changed here. Indeed, it is true that our citizens relish the past, but a special group of people - you, I, and other members of our school — must primarily look ahead to our future.

Yes, we each have our own, rich heritage; in equal measure, our personal historical landmarks remind us of our own past. That past was happy for most of us. Then, we were not faced with the responsibilities and problems that we encounter now. Then, high school was nothing but a dream of the future. Now, however, it is a reality. Those who have experienced this reality tell us to cherish our high school days, for one day they will be gone. But our excitement and anticipation of the future and of what it may hold in store for us are not lessened by these words of wisdom and experience.

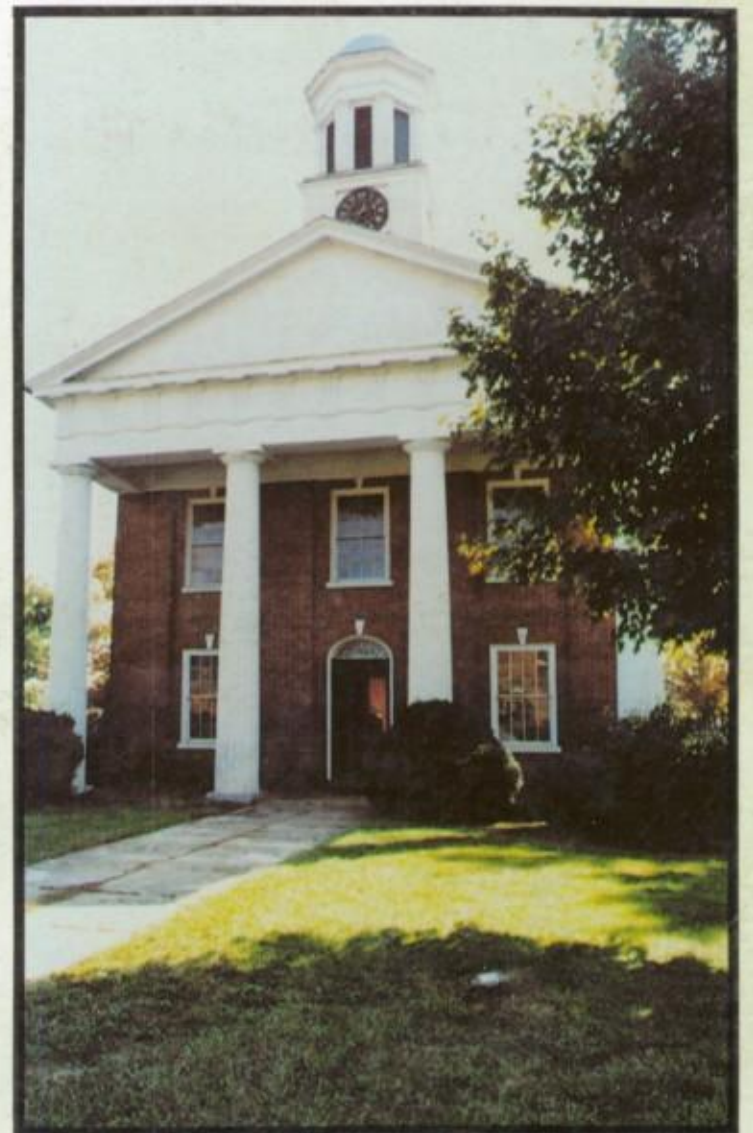

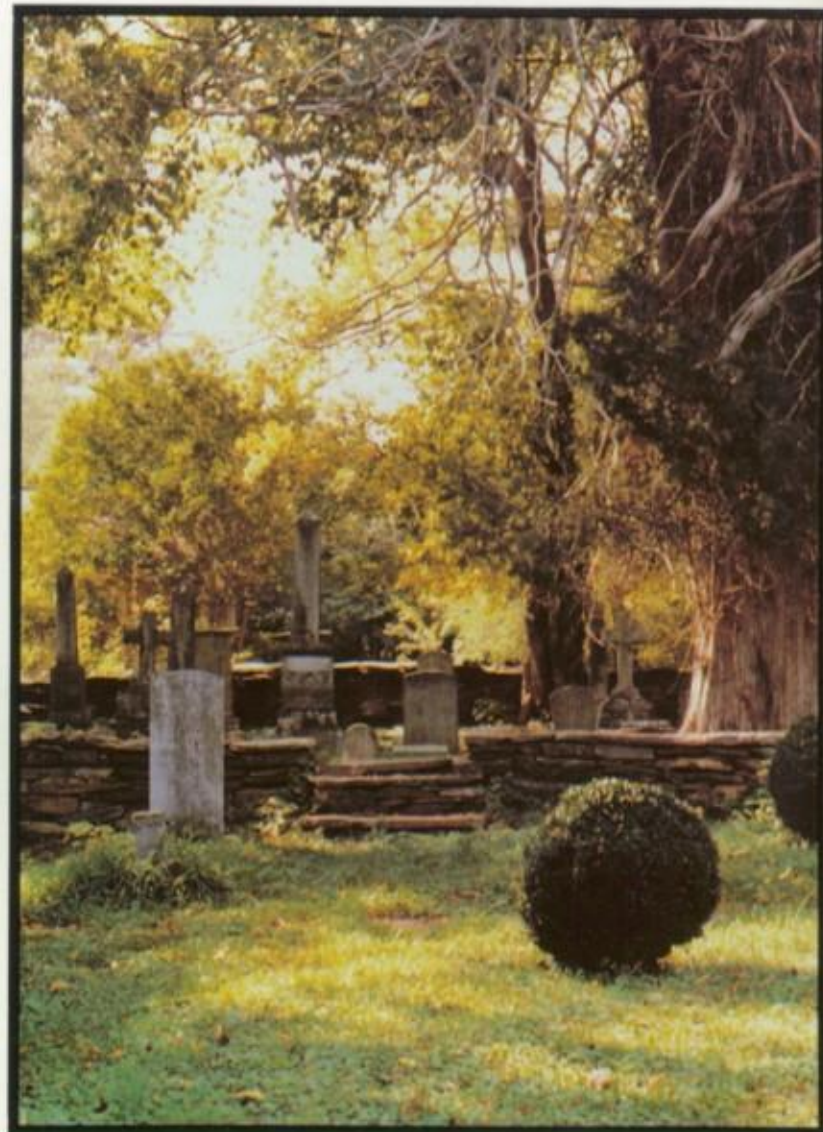

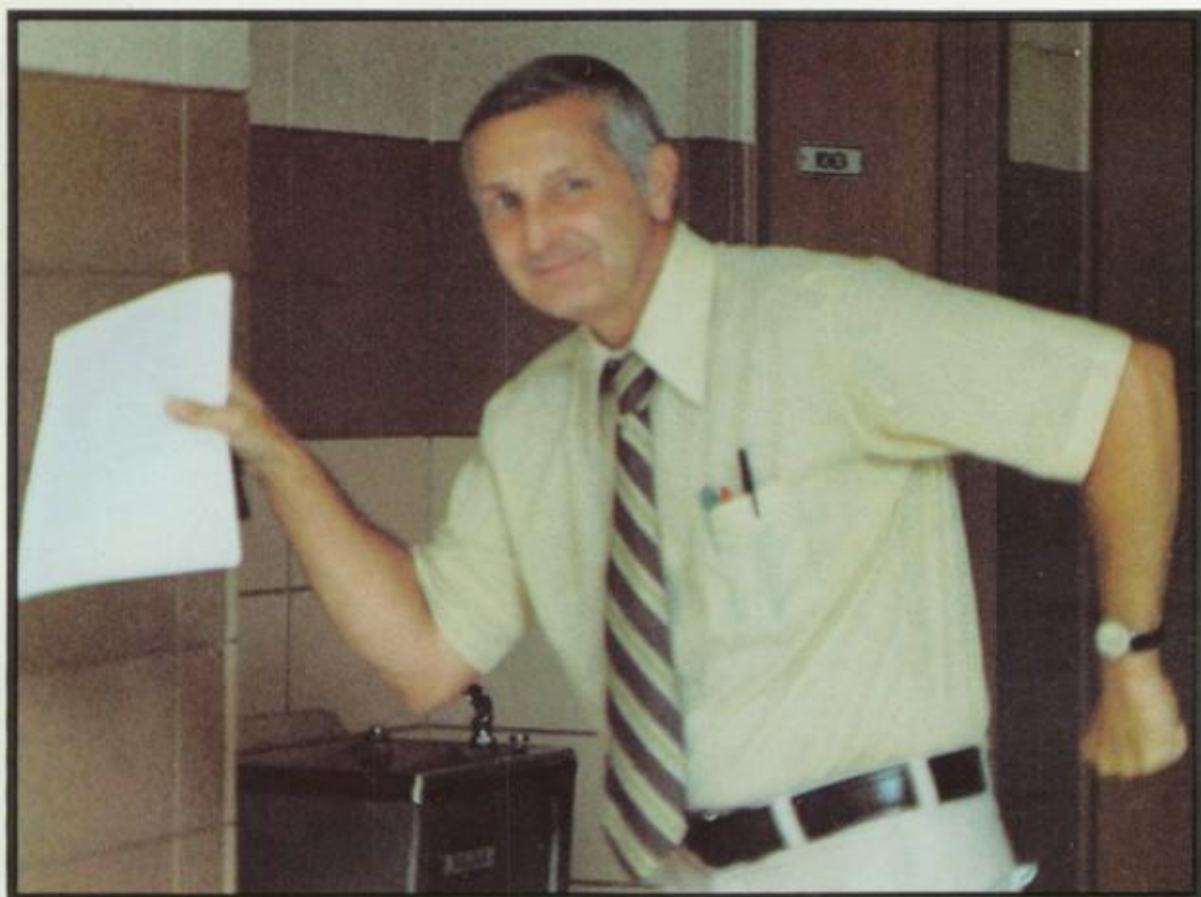

Brenda,

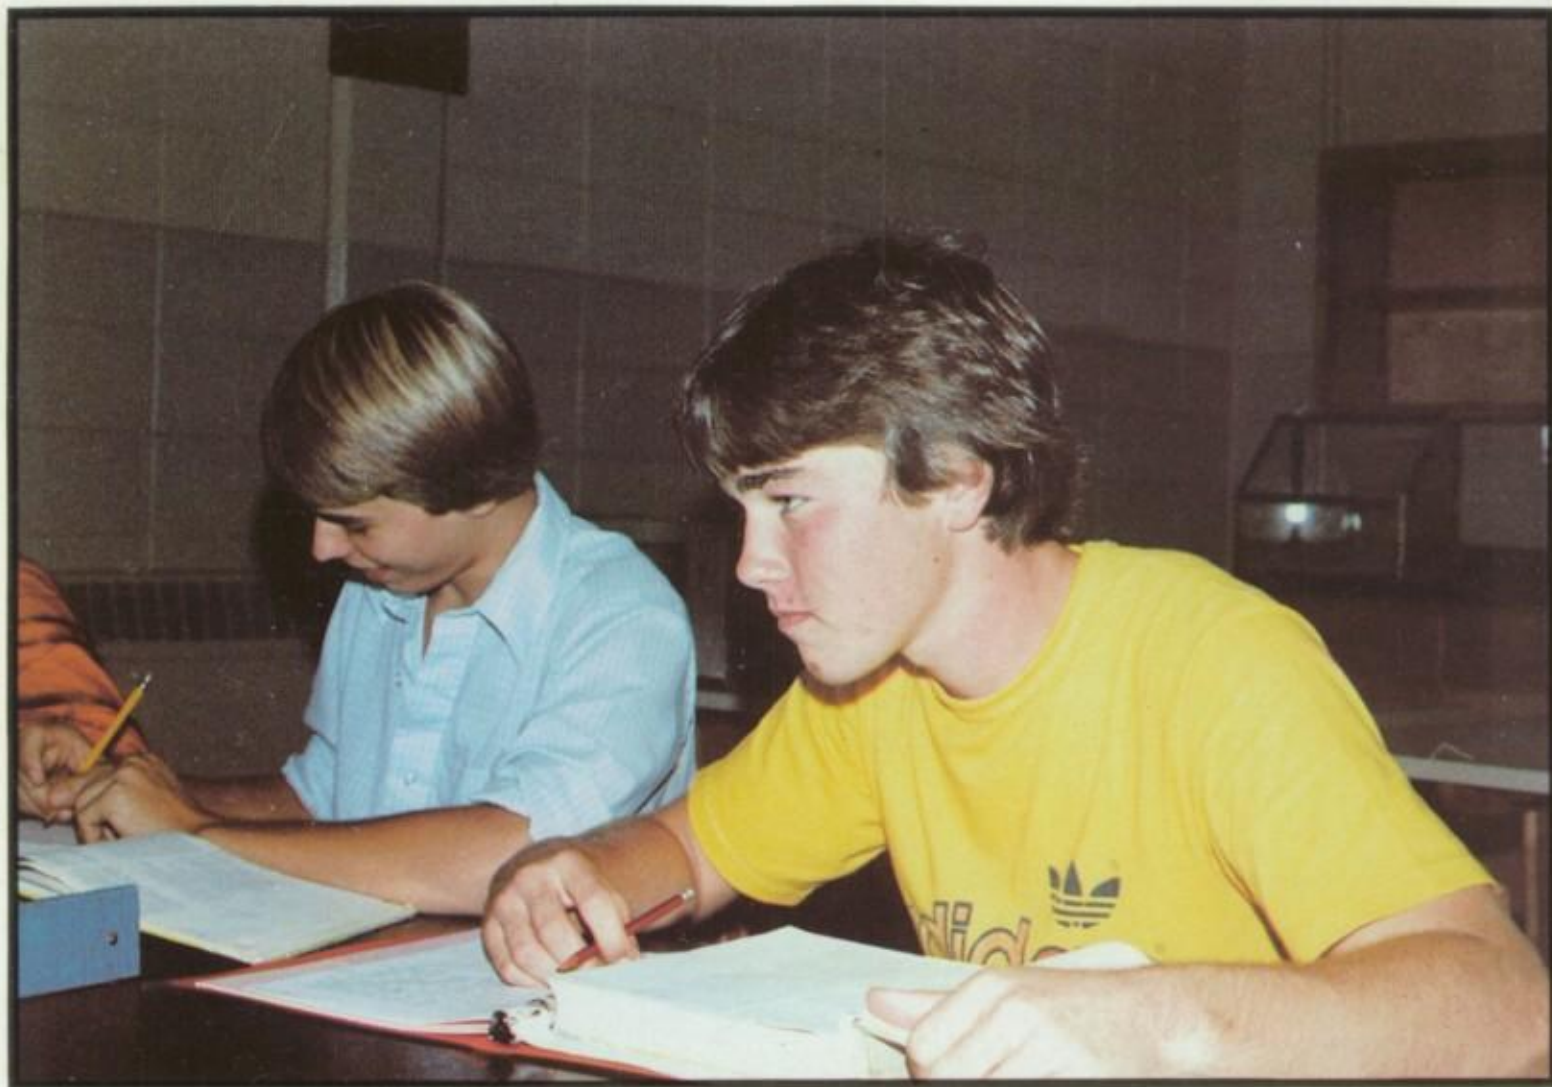

It's been great knowing
you. You're a great ~~person~~ person.
And a terrific friend.

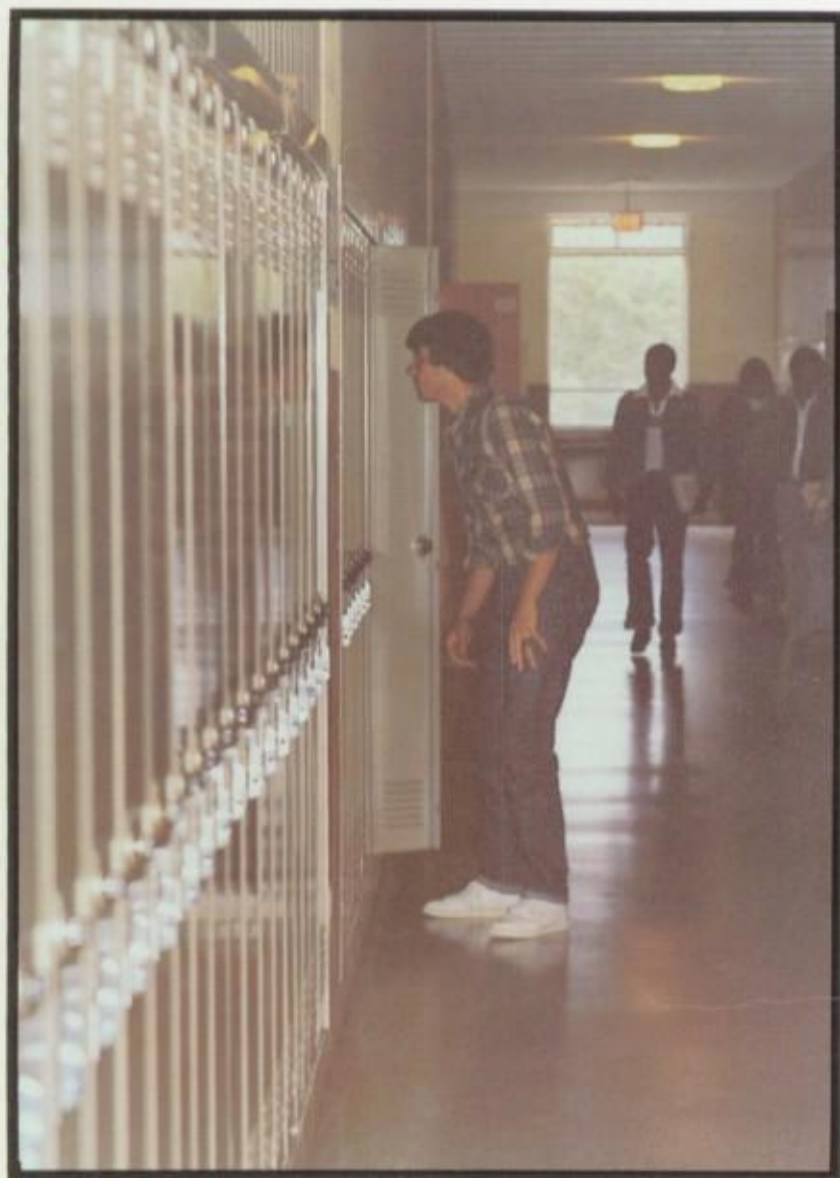

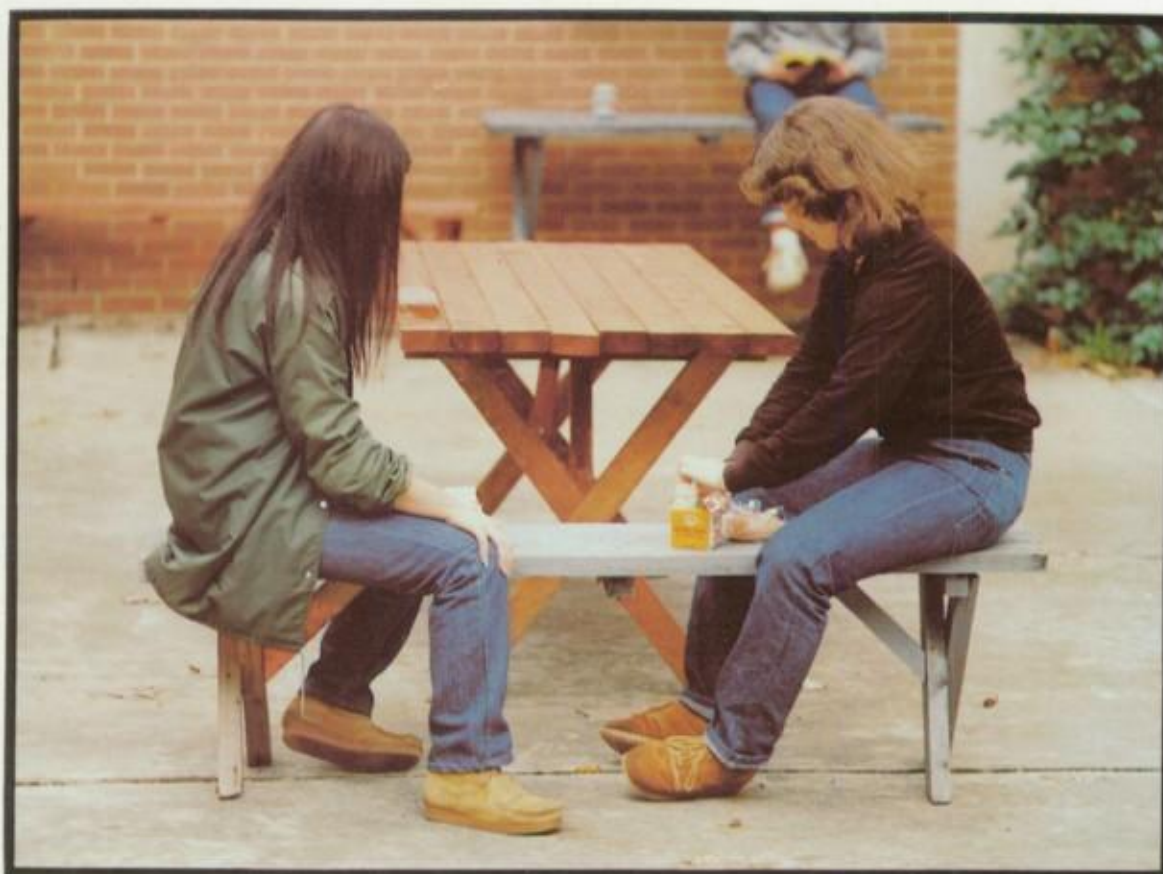

Love ya!
Vicki

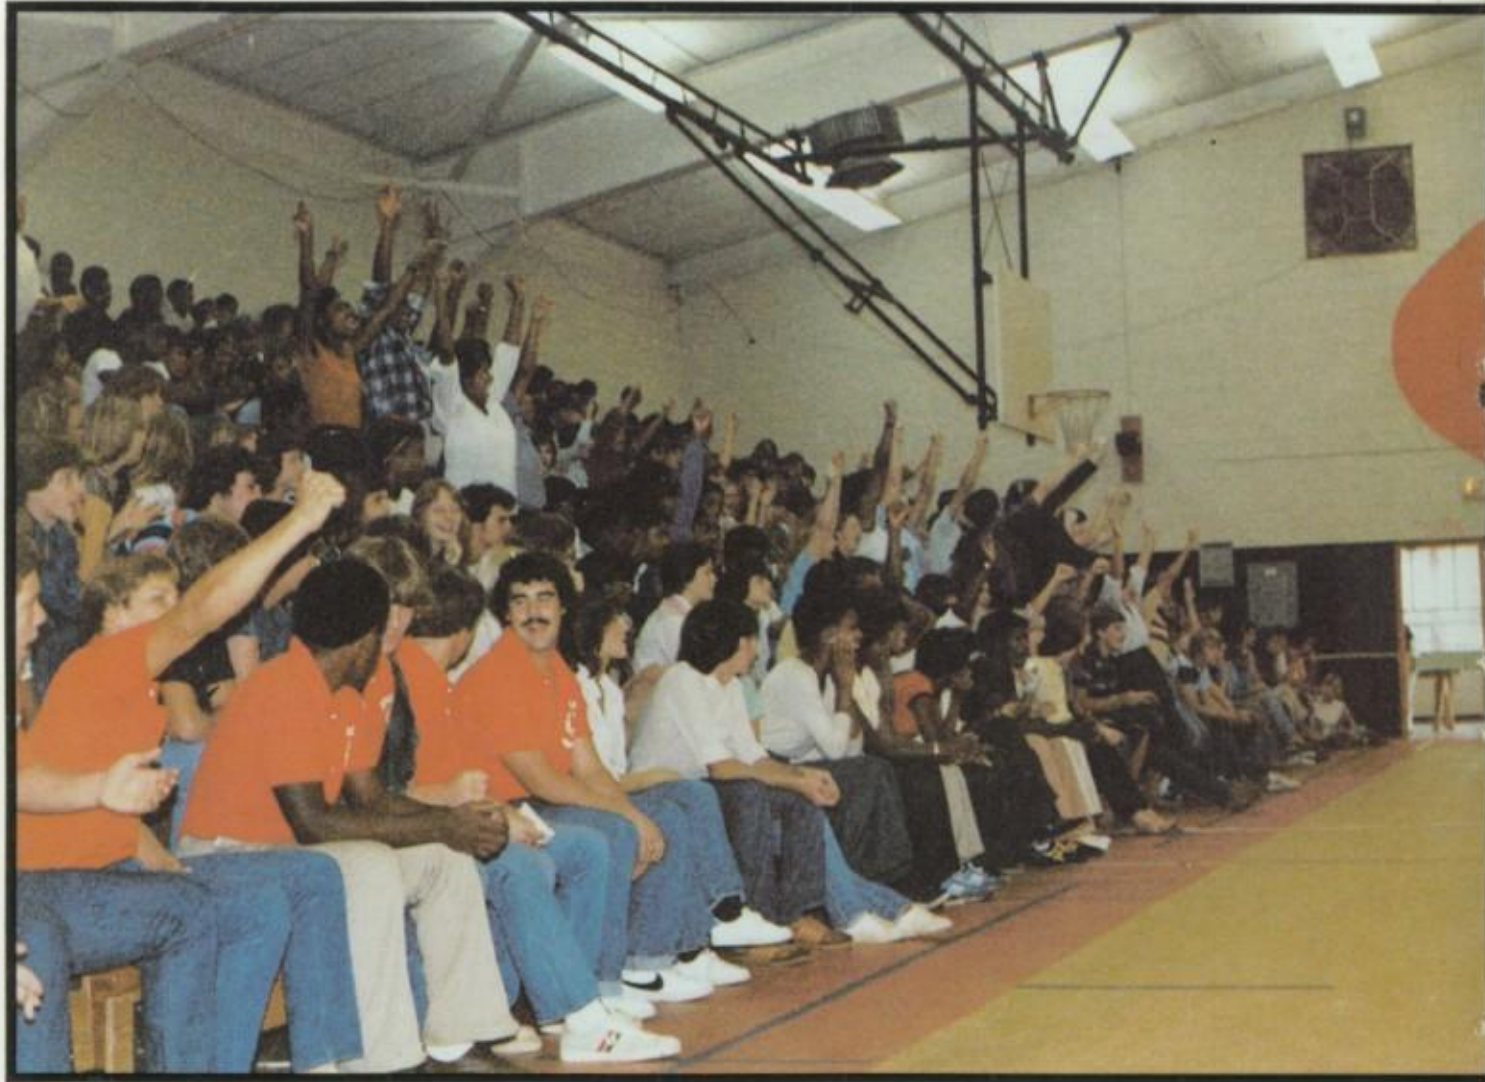

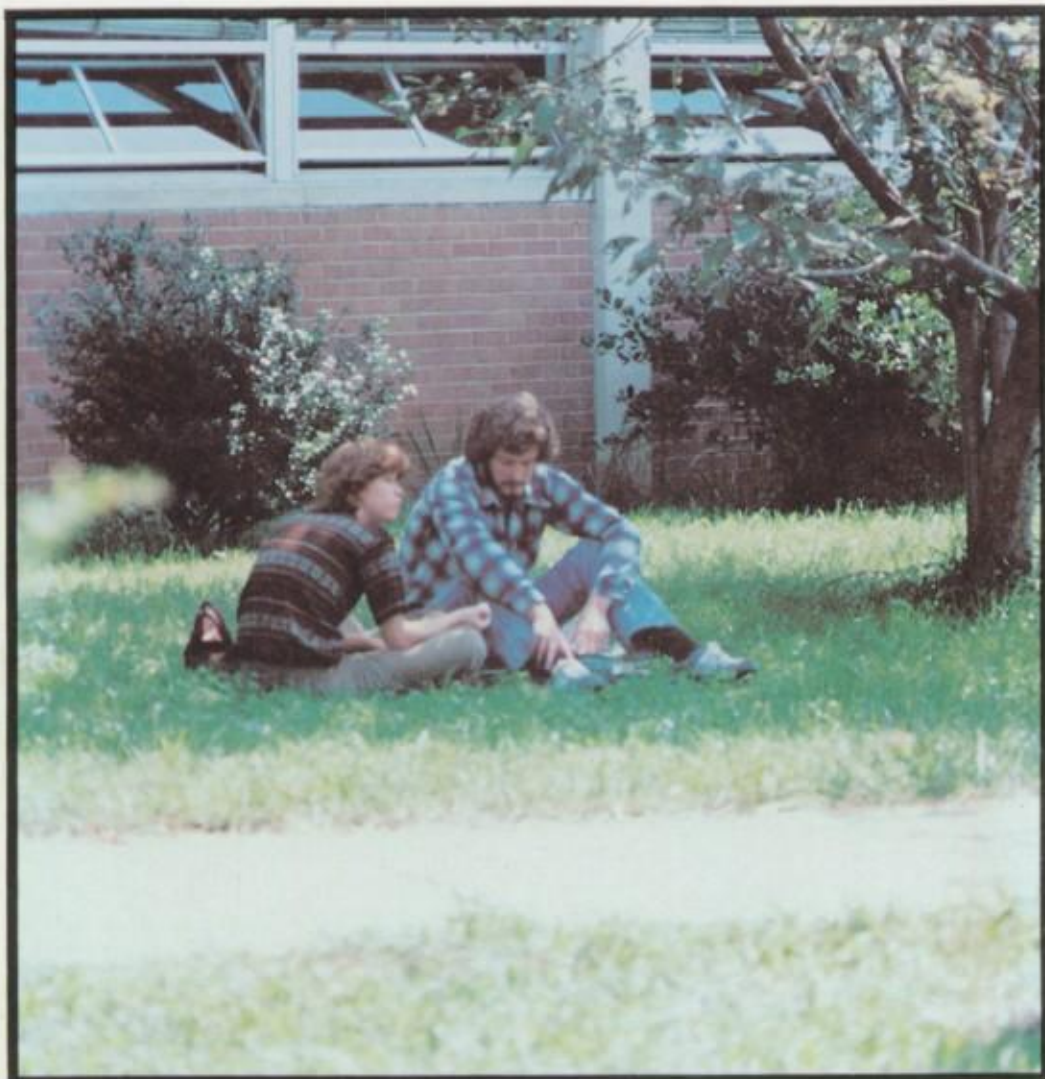

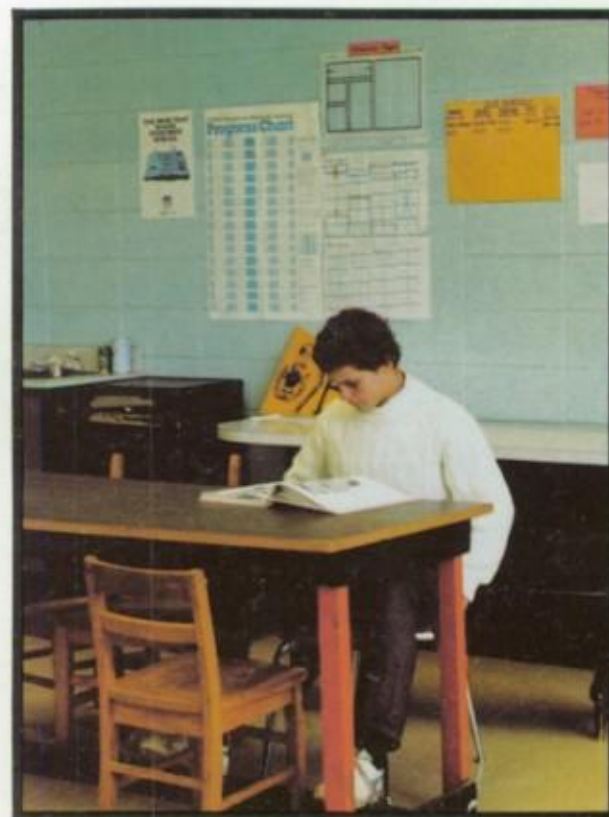

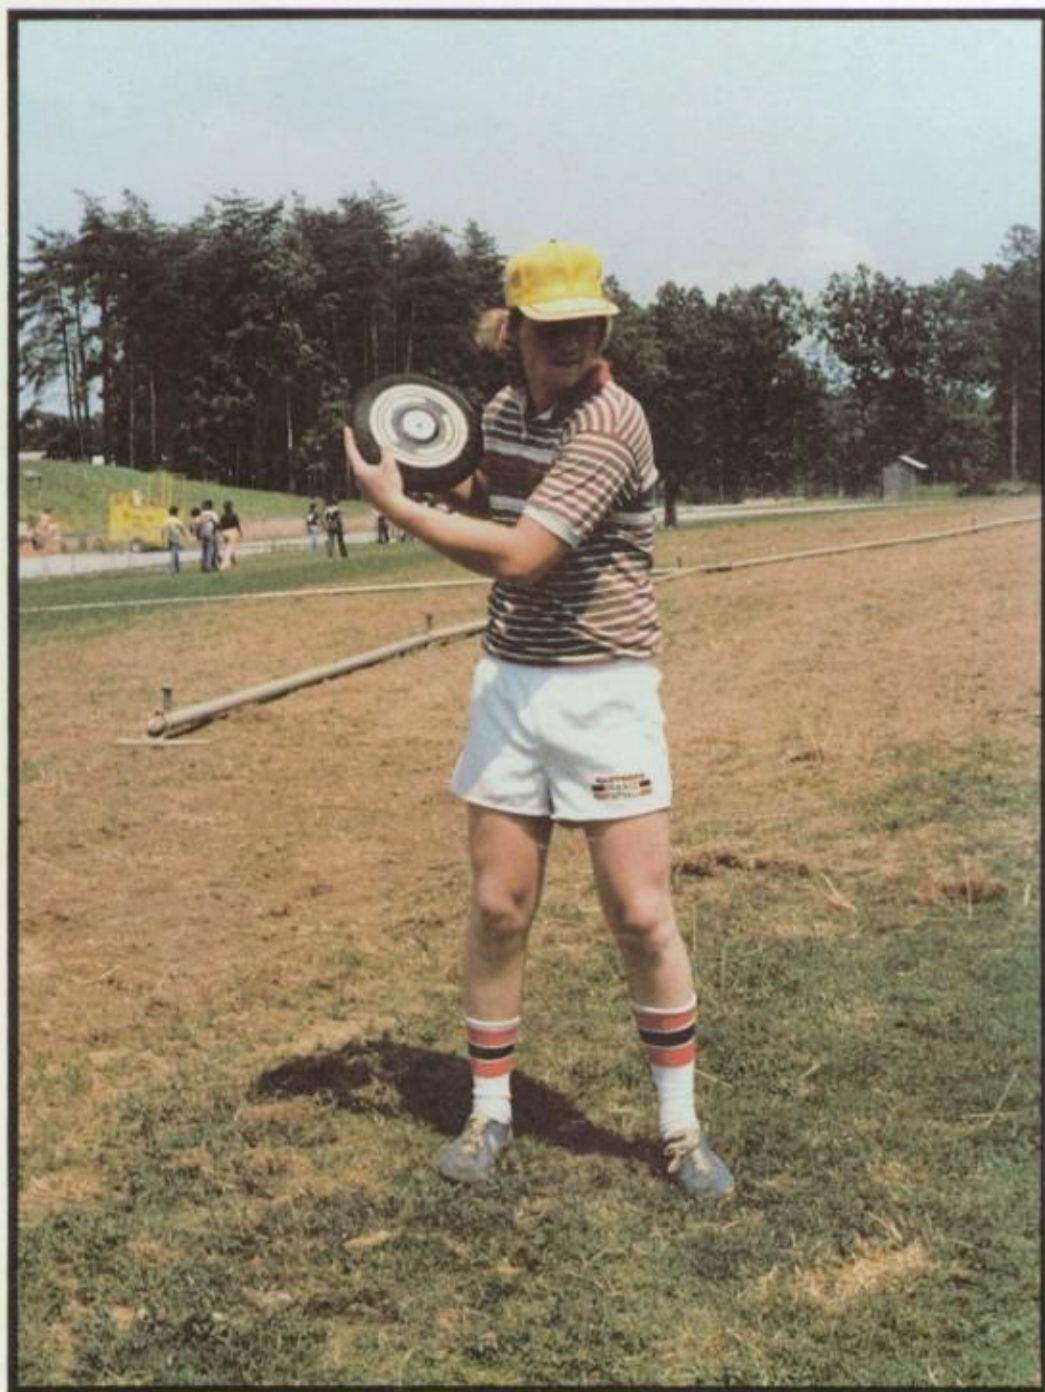

The year 1980 meant many things — the start of a new decade, a new beginning, a time of change for us and a renewed emphasis on education and personal excellence.

And with that new decade came new challenges, problems, encounters, crises, dilemmas, and decisions.

When we entered high school, we discovered that our ventures into the "real world" would begin much sooner than we had expected; high school, therefore, was the last restful stage, the last stage of safety and support, geared to provide us with the time and knowledge to prepare for our complete independence and for our future contributions to society. And whether we were Sophomores, Juniors, or, at last, Seniors, we came to realize that this time was exclusively OURS. Sure, years from now, on the onset of another new decade, perhaps such events as Powderbowl, ordering class rings, and planning homecoming might seem unimportant, but for now, it was these steps in time which carried us forward

SPORTS

Time has been of the essence even more emphatically in recent years because the whole world is moving at a faster pace, a pace that seems to speed up daily in this age of nuclear power, laser beams, human transplants, over-population, oil shortages, and possible melt-downs.

When we entered high school, we had already experienced this rapid pace, and, like the world's, our own pace quickened as we moved onward. Our involvements grew deeper; our commitments, more serious. We were willing to give our all for the Panther name — whether it be on the gridiron, the court, the track, or at band competition. We lived and died as our teams won and lost, and the times we had were often happy, often sad — but always exciting and full of movement.

At times, however, it was necessary to stop and to think who we were, where we had been, and, most important of all, where we were going.

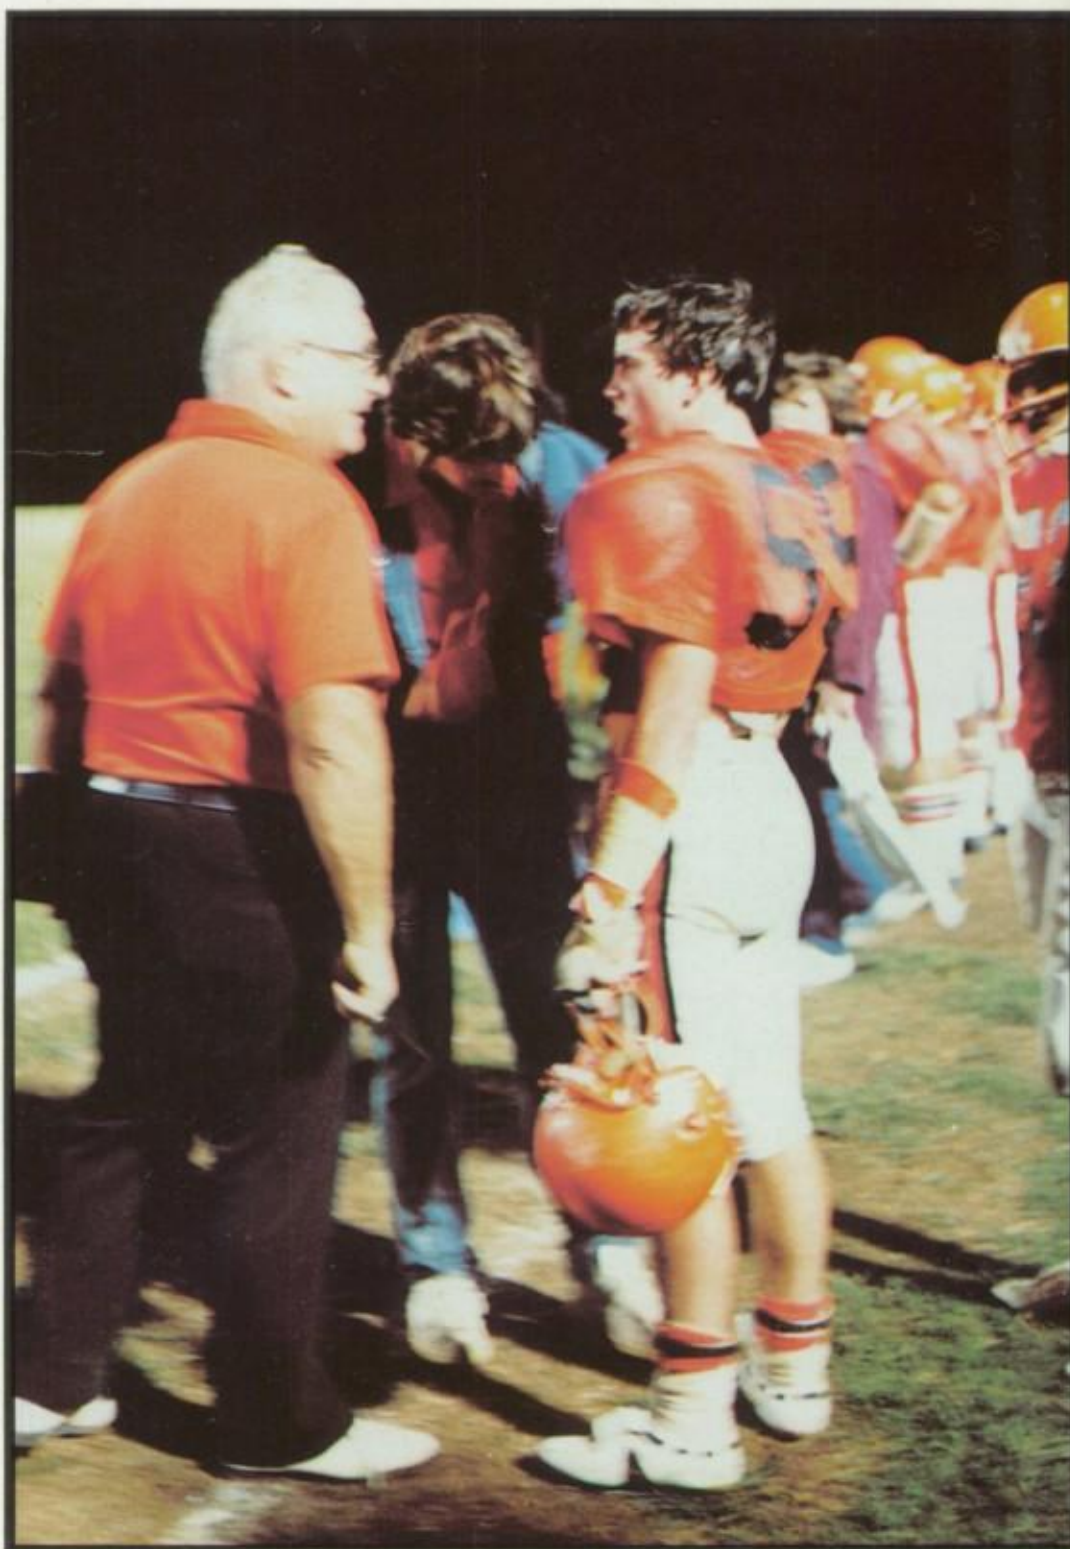

It's the same every year — only different. Neat white lines are drawn across the new grass, banners are hung, and Auman Stadium awakens after a long sleep. Grunts, moans, claps, and cheers fill the air as the Panthers return to their den. Yet this year there were new voices heard, and each removed helmet revealed a different face. Coach Scott no longer stood, his arms folded and his face without expression, gazing across the field. Other familiar faces were also gone, leaving a Triangle AAA Conference Championship behind. In their places were new players and a coach that held a pipe instead of a rolled-up playbook. Nonetheless, all were striving to keep what had been gained the fall before.

On August 1, approximately fifty players assembled at Orange High School to begin preparation for the defense of their crown. All realized that an uphill climb was ahead, for only six lettermen and three starters returned from the 1978 squad. In spite of this inexperience, the Panthers were able to pull together as a team and defeat the Bartlett Yancey Bucs by a score of 21-6, thus extending their regular season unbeaten streak to eleven games.

The next week, the Panthers seemed to have victory number two in their grasp when a late score by Eastern Alamance gave Orange its first regular season loss since 1977, 13-12.

This defeat appeared to take away some of the momentum gained by the first victory, and the Panthers' inexperience reared its head the next Friday against the Cougars of Apex. Nevertheless, Orange never gave up, though losing to one of the toughest teams in the conference by the slim margin of 17-13.

The Panthers realized that one more loss would all but crush their hopes of another conference title; for that reason, they worked harder in practice in preparation for the Western Harnett Eagles than they had since the season had begun. Their diligence paid off as the offense and defense combined in one of the best efforts of the year to capture a 20-4 win.

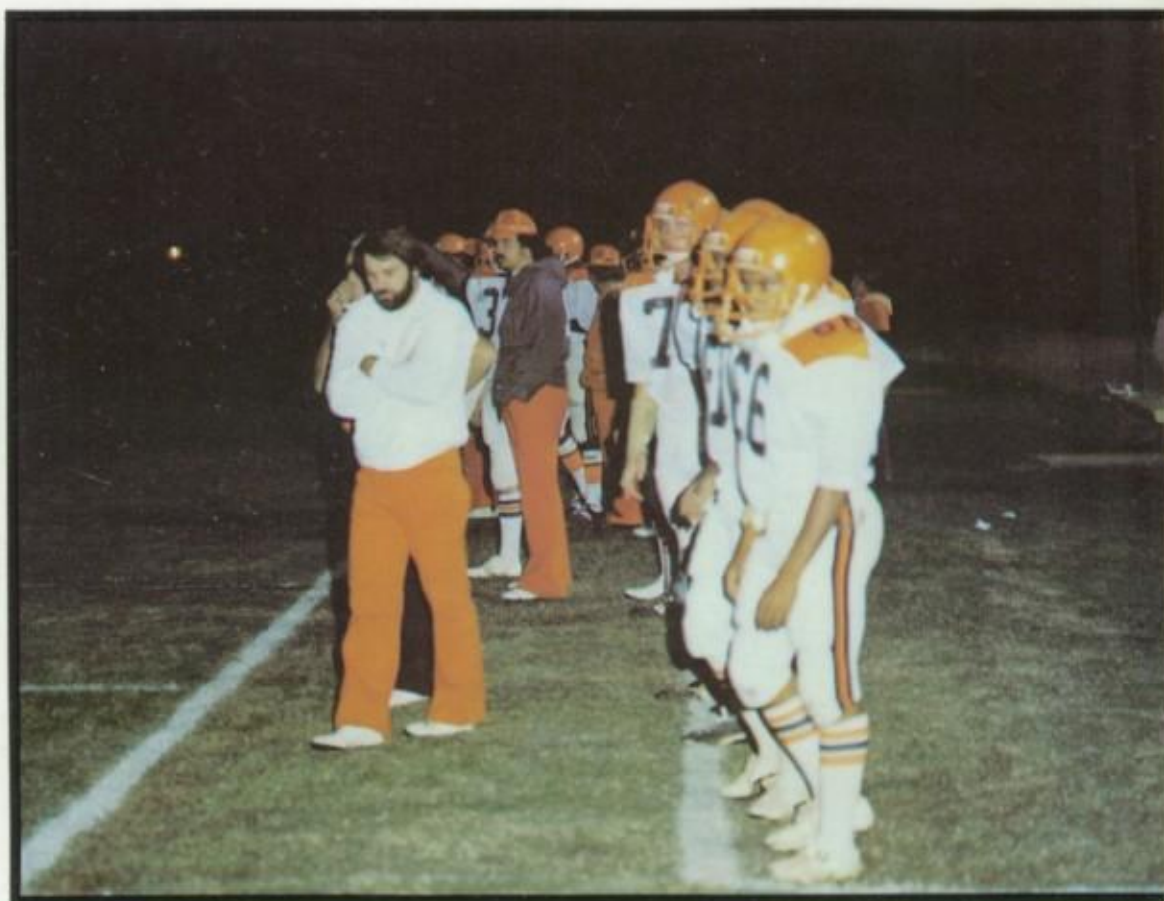

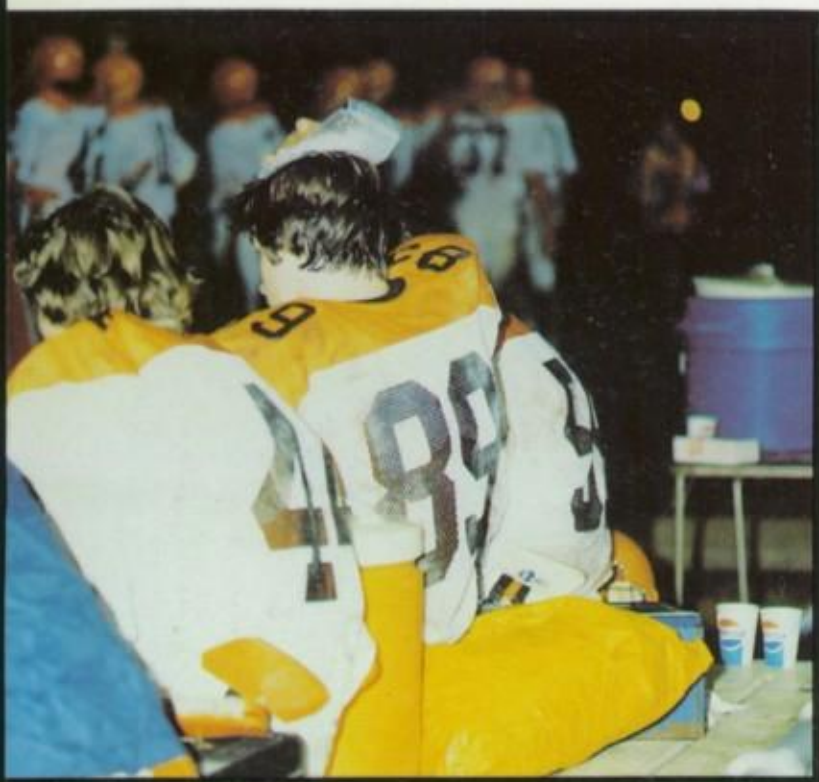

Unfortunately, a disheartening setback occurred one week later as the Panthers were defeated by a physically stronger and better prepared South Johnston team. By now it was apparent to everyone that luck was not with the Panthers, and that 1979 would see a new Triangle AAA conference champion. But the Panthers refused to throw in the towel. They fought down to the final gun in each and every contest, despite being clearly outmanned each time they took the field. Losses to Jordan, Dunn, and Harnett Central hurt every player deeply as he played his heart out, hoping to finish the season on an upward swing.

Their diligence paid off as the offense and defense combined in one of the best efforts of the year to capture a 20-4 win.

Unfortunately, a disheartening setback occurred one week later as the Panthers were defeated by a physically stronger and better prepared South Johnston team. By now it was apparent to everyone that luck was not with the Panthers and that 1979 would see a new Triangle 3-A conference champion. But the Panthers refused to throw in the towel. They fought down to the final gun in each and every contest, despite being clearly outmanned each time they took the field. Losses to Jordan, Dunn, and Harnett Central hurt every player deeply as he played his heart out, hoping to finish the season on an upward swing.

The Panthers had the chance to play the "spoiler" the following week at East Wake. A win over the Warriors would hand the championship to Southern Durham outright. Unfortunately, Orange could not overcome the strength and experience of East Wake and succumbed 38-20.

The final game of the season gave Orange the opportunity to turn back the Southern Spartans. The Panthers gave the Spartans all they could handle in the first half, but injuries and costly mistakes took their toll, and the Spartans prevailed 28-13 to win the Triangle 3-A championship.

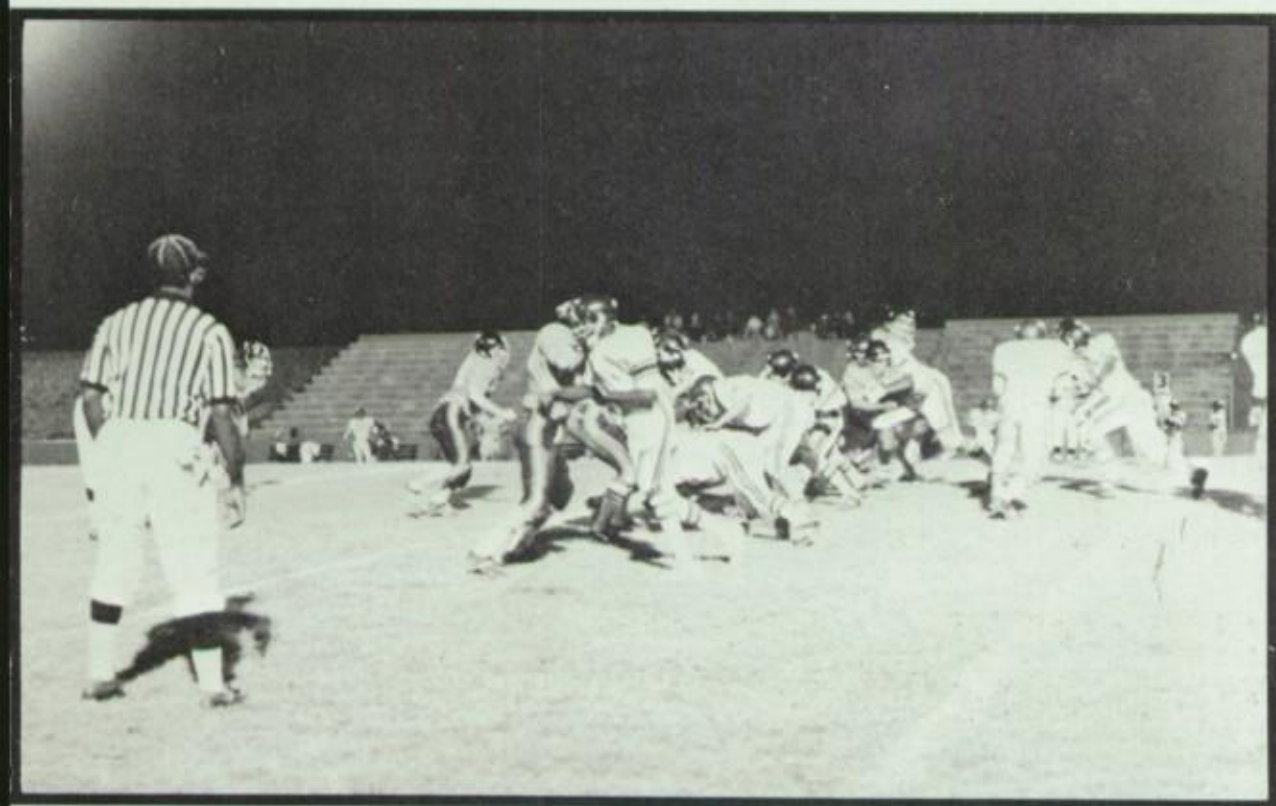

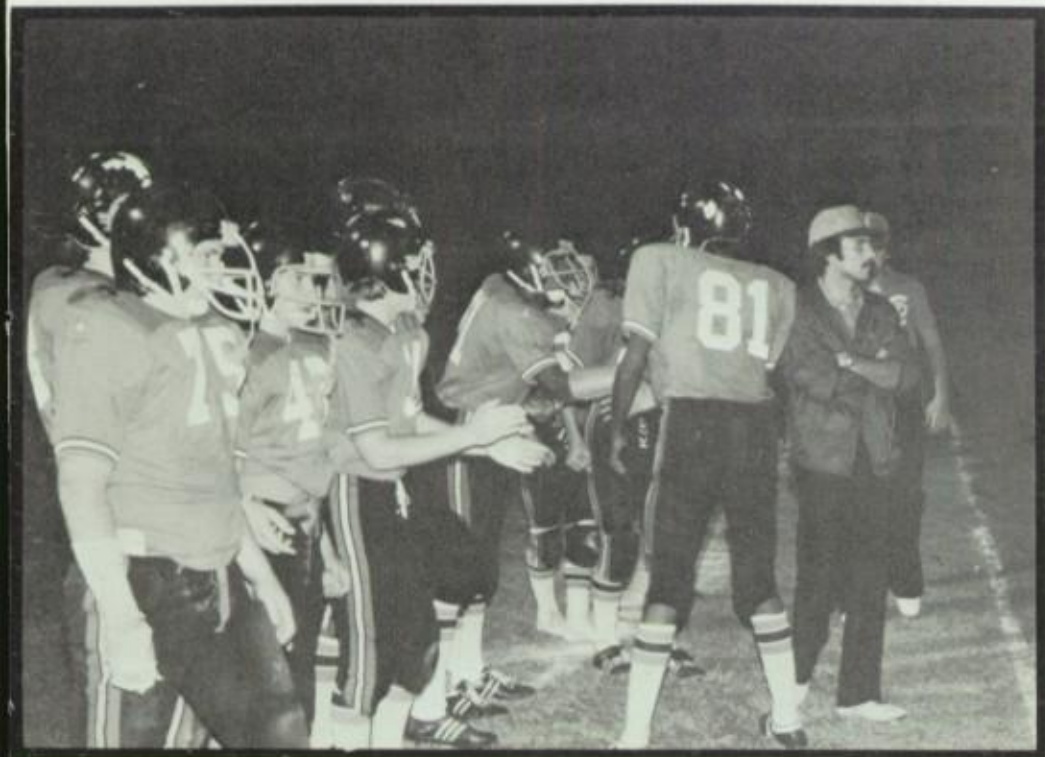

Even though the Panthers finished at 2-8 and were outplayed in many games, several players had fine seasons. Don Scott set school and conference passing records in addition to making All-Conference, All-Area, and All-East for the second straight year. Scott was also named Offensive Player of the Year by the Durham Morning Herald. David Parker also won All-Conference and led the team in tackles for the second straight year. His defensive heroics kept the Panthers in many games this season. Other seniors who contributed much were Roger Fowler, David Barlow, Jay Hopper, Franklin Farrish, Bill Richardson, Jim Roberts, and Toney Rainey. Juniors who made major contributions and will lead the team next year are Johnny Ware, Garth Haas, and Maris Riley.

J.V. FOOTBALL

The 1979 edition of the Orange High Junior Varsity proved that one can still play football without the crowds and publicity. Despite the lack of a permanent coach and the forfeiture of their opening game because of lack of players, the team held together. After each game they returned to the locker room battered and bruised by the always larger team, but they were on the field the next week with as much spirit, intensity, and heart as ever. The J.V. won only two games — versus Western Harnett and Dunn — but that was not what was important. Much valuable experience and many new qualities were gained — pluses that will be realized when these players become the Varsity team next season.

Cheering Equip.

Early in June of 1979, with hardly time to breathe, a group of ten co-ordinated and spirited girls, who could be called people-pepper-uppers, began to defend and upgrade their reputation as a squad. This job started with hours of perspiration and practice preparing for the first step — cheerleading camp. There the blistered heels and sore muscles always seemed to pay off, as many valuable techniques and stunts were learned.

Seven of the young ladies were experiencing their first season as Orange High Cheerleaders, and this fact could have easily added to the difficulties; however, thanks to their enthusiasm, and togetherness, it didn't — and the season went remarkably well. No matter how the team played, the cheerleaders were there with their support. Despite the hectic times of banner making, surprise giving, spirit week, homecoming, and pep rallies, the cheerleaders were always able to be prompt, polite, at times almost perfect. It was expected. With their unique closeness, they conquered most problems and ruts of the season and added to the good times. Unlike with other athletic teams, however, their spirit continued, their good will lasted, and the essence of their season never came to a halt.

Intramurals

Sometimes during the academic year, monotony takes its toll on the student. This monotony, however, can be alleviated by the excitement of Intramurals. These activities take place during lunch, and the competition is tremendous. Sports offered are: ping pong, flag football, basketball, softball, and tennis. The intramural program this past year was successful because of the banishment of the two-period lunch system. Once again, the intramural program at OHS has become a much needed occurrence — a highlight for all.

CROSS COUNTRY

During the fall, one can always make out a pack of students busily engaged in cross-country. These after-school athletic sessions center on running up mountains, on sprinting a series of four to six laps around the track, and on trotting faithfully around the practice football field ten times.

Members of OHS's cross-country team are devoted to these activities almost every day. In fact, when the time for competing against other schools in the conference nears, the exhausting work sessions bring gains.

In 1979, it was obvious, as in previous seasons, that one of the highlights of the weeks of training was Coach Gary Maske's inspiration and support. With Coach Maske's help, cross-country served to bring out the best efforts in each team member.

VOLLEYBALL

Beginning the season with five returning lettermen, the Panthers perfected technique, heightened control, and precision play peaked.

During the season, the Lady Spikers held off weaker opponents and surged ahead in the conference race to win one of two matches against the number three team, Central Harnett.

Throughout, senior Dina Henry and sophomore Nancy Ward were vital as back line defensive players; senior Nancy Compton and junior Deesie Shearin led the team in scoring, Shearin averaging nine points per match. Also, sophomores Kathryn Hutcherson and Eunice Johnson added depth to a rapidly improving team.

An appropriate finale came in the conference tournament. The Panthers, seeded fourth, defeated defending champions South Johnston and finished second in the tournament to undefeated Jordan.

Thus, this was a season of exciting volleyball demanding highly skilled players; it was a season beginning a tradition in volleyball at Orange High School.

Varsity Basketball

Jack the Ripper, the Bermuda Triangle, the Lochness Monster, and the 1980 Varsity Basketball team all have one thing in common — they are the great mysteries of our time.

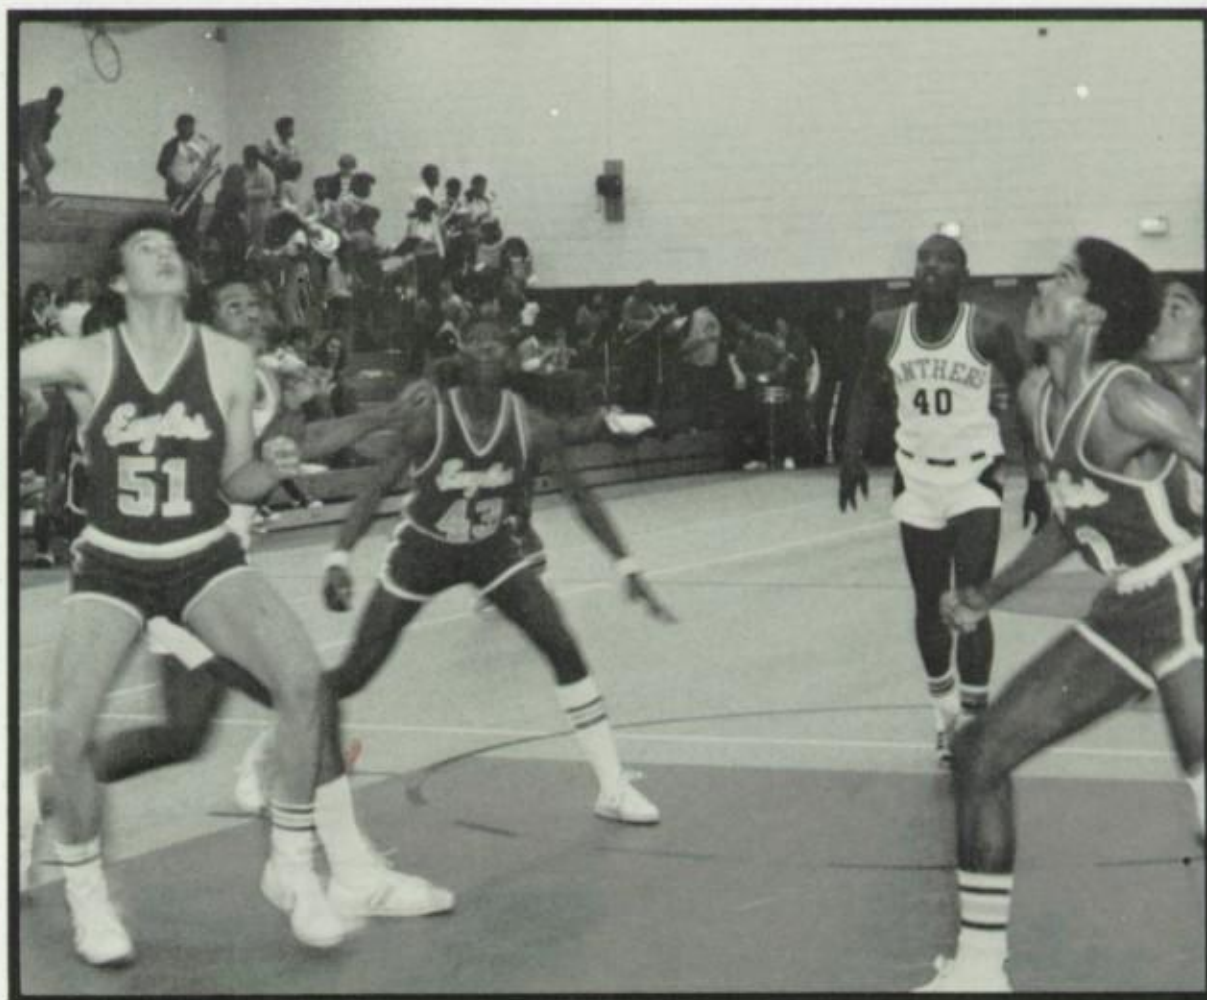

Though the Panthers possessed an abundance of individual talent, they were unable to jell as a team and stumbled through a difficult 16 game schedule.

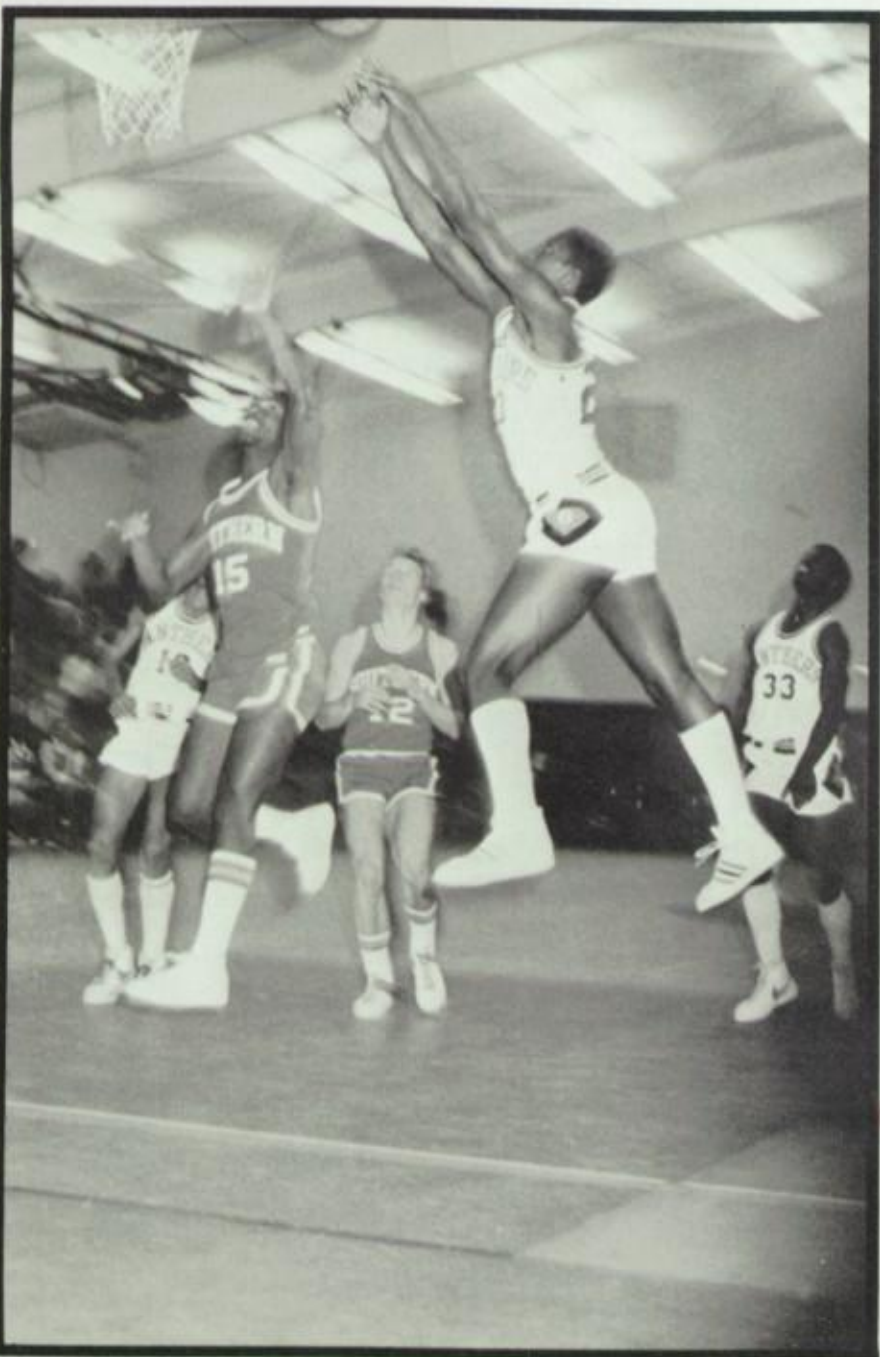

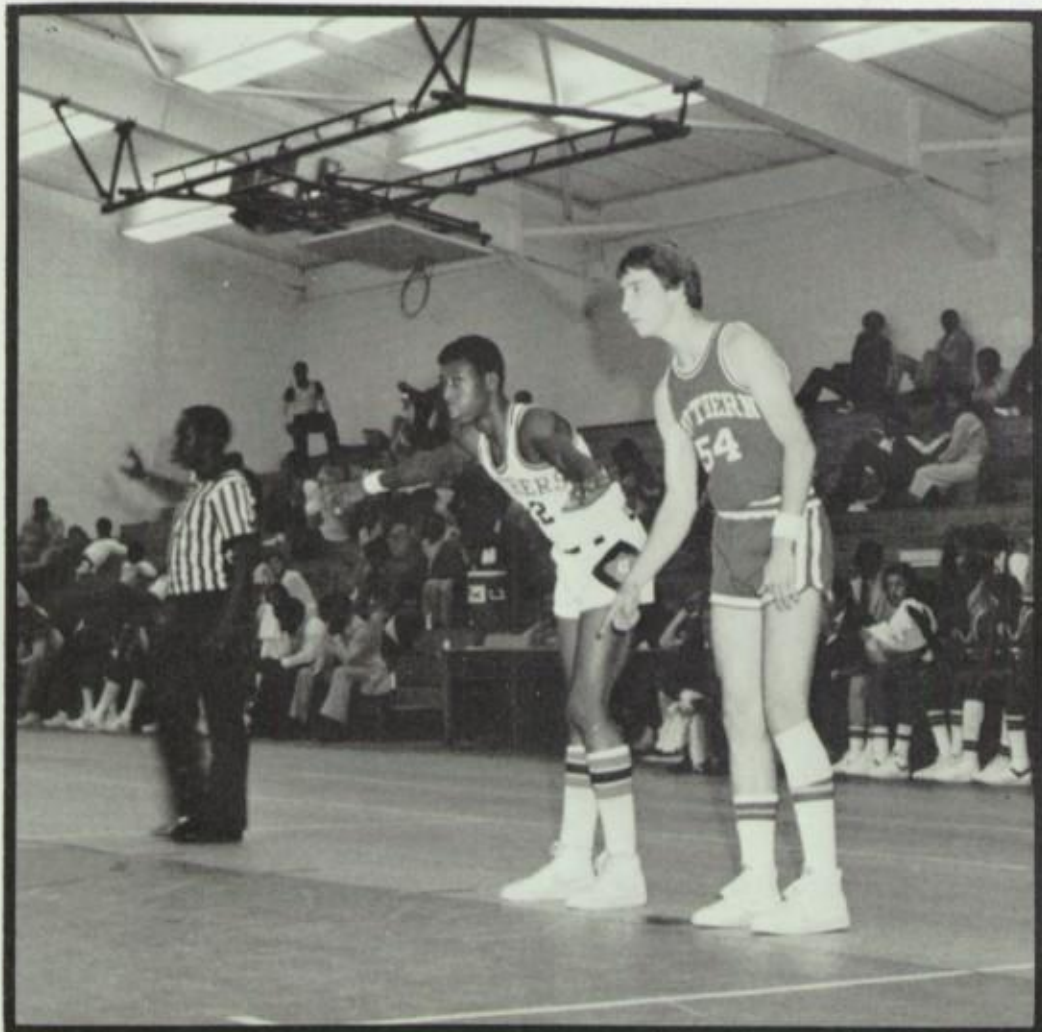

Head Coach Richard Lyons battled inexperience throughout the year with a starting five that was devoid of returning players. Orange fans caught only occasional glances of the scoring power that the Panthers had to unleash.

Yet the foundation is present for another Orange dynasty in the Triangle 3-A conference. Lyons needs only to tune up the Panther machine before it begins to roll. Then one great mystery will be solved.

Women's Basketball

A one-point loss to Bartlett-Yancey and a one-point win to Western Harnett were just two of the points of excitement, headaches, and thrills that characterized the 1979-1980 women's basketball season. But words alone can never describe the season.

With the guidance of new coach Mel Dennis, the program continued to improve. Three conference wins in the first half of the season provided optimism for the team.

Returning seniors Terrie Long, Sherry Thompson, and Ellen Wade were major contributors as Orange proved to be a close competitor with all teams. Juniors Angela Ellison, Sharyn Gates, Karyn Gates, Pat Ruffin, and Deesie Shearin added strength, depth, and dedication to the team. New-comers Sandy Deweese and Mary Vogel gained valuable playing time and showed promise for the future.

The basketball season at Orange (women's style, that is) got the new decade off to an excellent start.

The J.V. Basketball team suffered through a difficult season because of a number of reasons. Overall there was not enough natural talent on the team, and this fact made it hard for the team to compete. However, this lack of talent was not the only problem besetting the squad. Probably the main cause of the team's losses was its lack of players.

First year coach Steve Milligan started out with 20 players that would make up the team. By the end of the season because of injuries, the team had been depleted to 8 players. Of these players William Johnson and Ronald Croaker were probably the most outstanding. Johnson led the team in both scoring and rebounding while Croaker, only a 9th grader, excelled at both ends of the court. Hopefully these players will eventually combine with other teammates already on the varsity to return the Panthers to the top of the triangle conference.

This page top right: Showing the ability that moved him up to the varsity team later in the season, Todd Chavious passes off to a teammate.

Golf

Many times golf is overlooked as a high school sport. Skeptics contend that golf is a sport reserved for old men. For those who enjoy the sport, however, nothing could be further from the truth.

Here at Orange High very few people play the game of golf. This statement is attested by the fact that the golf team annually consists of fewer than ten members. In high school golf, team members qualify against each other for one of the five spots that make up the team. The reason for qualifying every week is to give each team member a good chance of playing.

The coach of the golf team is Steve Milligan. Last year was Coach Milligan's first year as a golf coach. This year's team returned five lettermen. They were the following: Jay Hopper, Jim Roberts, Brian Condie, Dale Garrard, and Johnny Ware. The team was helped immensely by the addition of several newcomers, including Jay Berry, who contended for the team's number one spot.

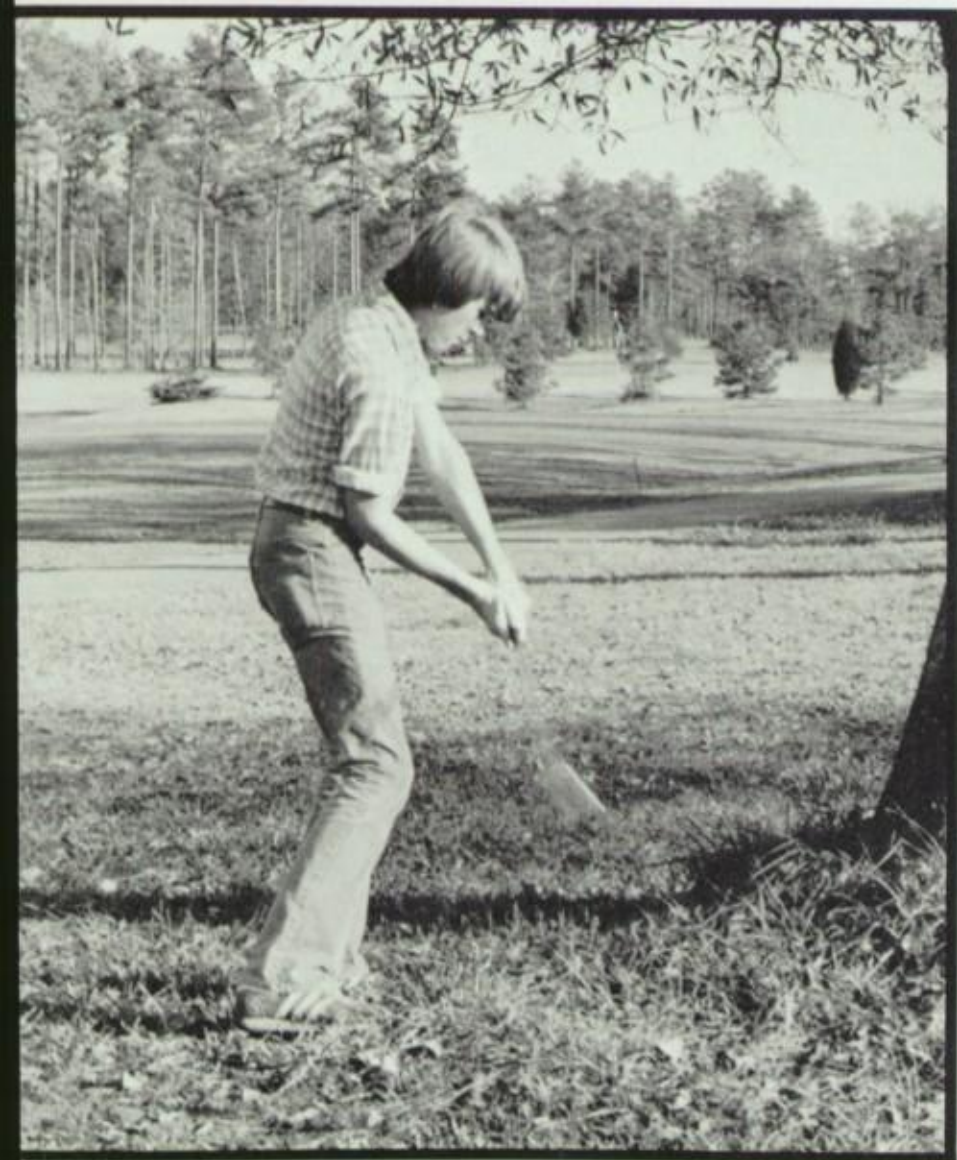

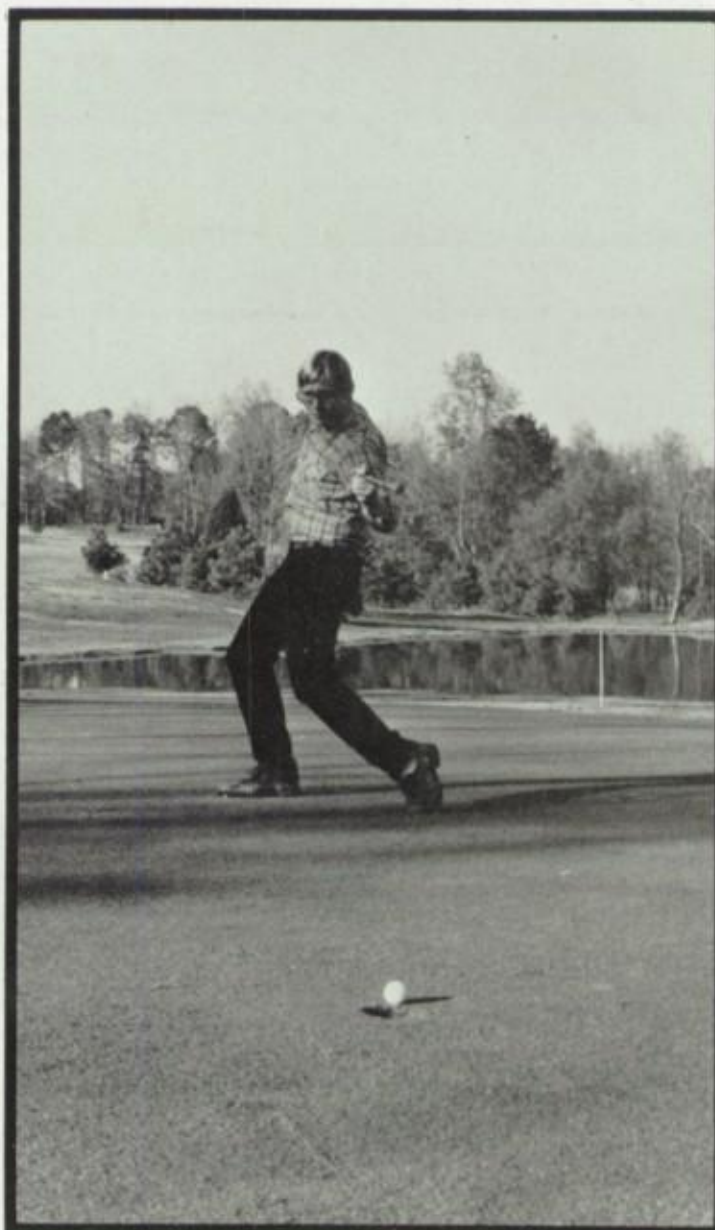

The year was successful, as team and individual goals were reached. The leadership of seniors Jay Hopper, Jim Roberts and Brian Condie helped tremendously.

Baseball

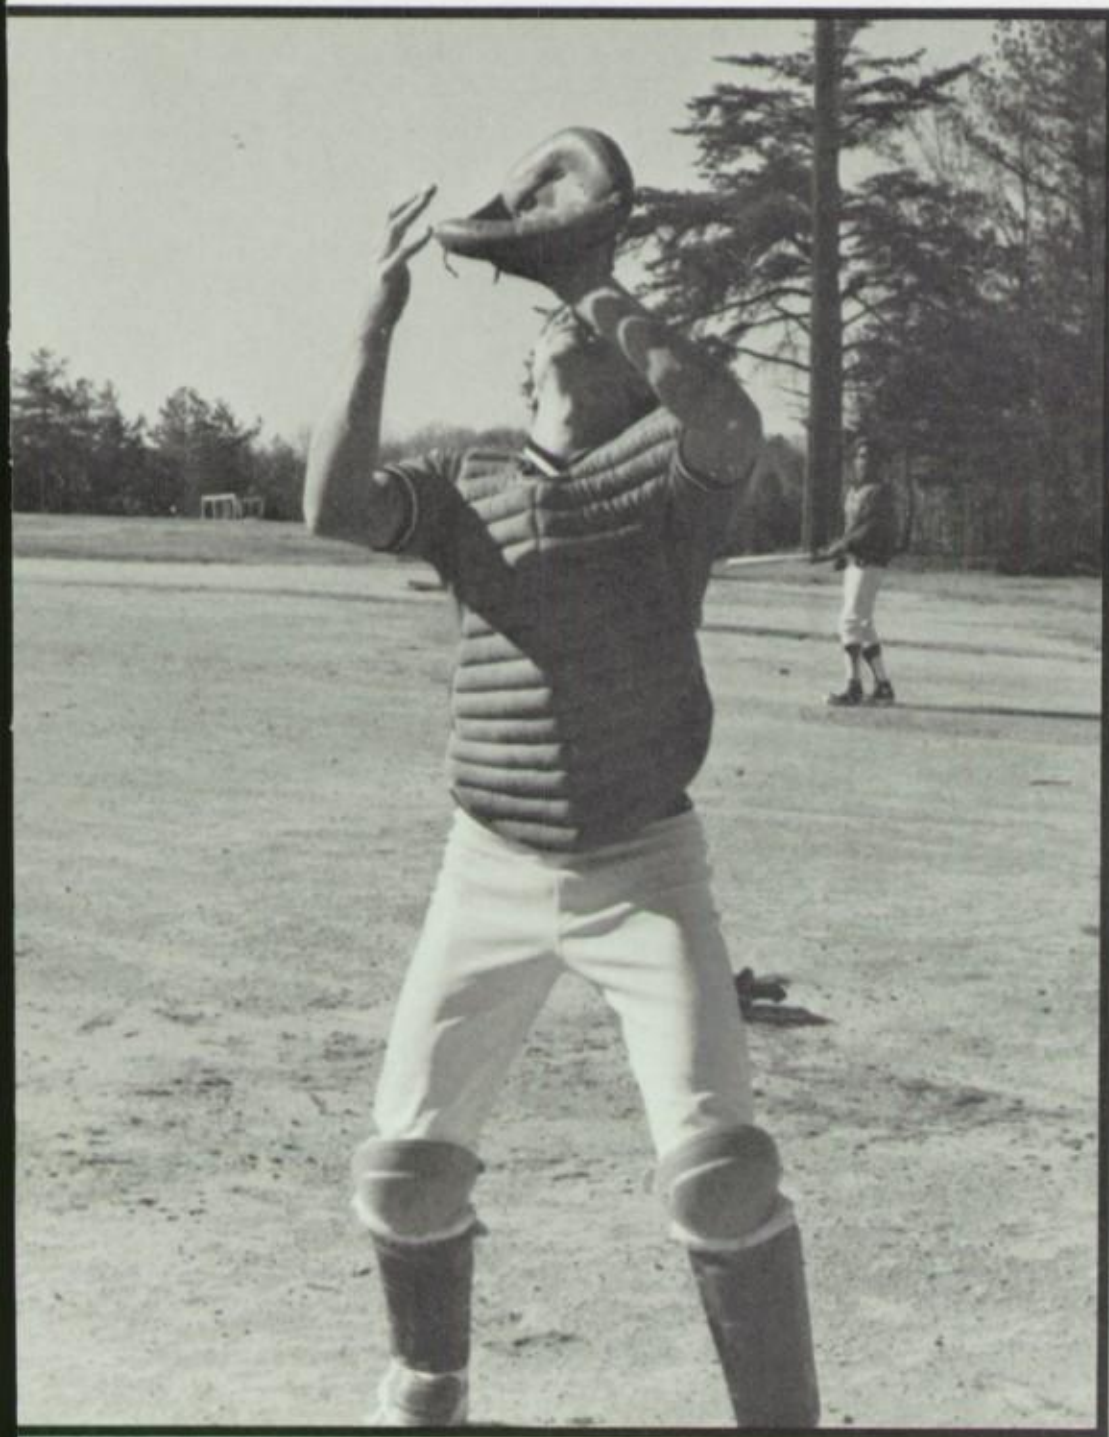

One of the greatest aspects of baseball is that this sport has endured without major changes. Of course, a few variations have crept into the game, such as the designated hitter and the pinch runner, but while football now has its nosetackles, flex defenses, and open arm blocking, and while basketball now claims its point guards, power forwards, and three point shots, baseball basically remains the same. Nine men still take to the field to play defense, six in the infield, three in the outfield; the infielders are still called simply first baseman, second baseman, shortstop and third baseman. The pitcher still throws the ball to the catcher, while trying to get that age-old batter to strike out. And oh, yes, it still takes three strikes to get a batter out, and three outs continue to comprise an inning. In short, one who played baseball back in the 1880's would still recognize the game a century later in the 1980's.

Baseball seldom changes in other ways at Orange. While other teams have had poor or up-and-down seasons in the past few years, this sport has flourished. This year's seniors brought a two-season record of 27 wins and only 13 losses into the 1980 campaign. Leading the team were two-year lettermen Todd Roberts and Don Scott. Other major contributors were expected to be 1979 lettermen Maurice Rettiford, Maris Riley, Jay Berry, Alan Horton, Terry Owen, and Bennett Torain.

Softball

The winning tradition of Orange softball teams continued under new Head Coach Pam Milligan. With several returning starters the team hoped for a good season and got just that.

The team began the season with a powerful start, turning in a 4-0 record in conference play. O. H. S. was in first place, tied with South Johnston. A trip to Trojan territory however, marred the perfect record and the Panthers fell to second place. Finally, after several disappointing games, the Lady Panthers finished up with a 10-6 record in the conference.

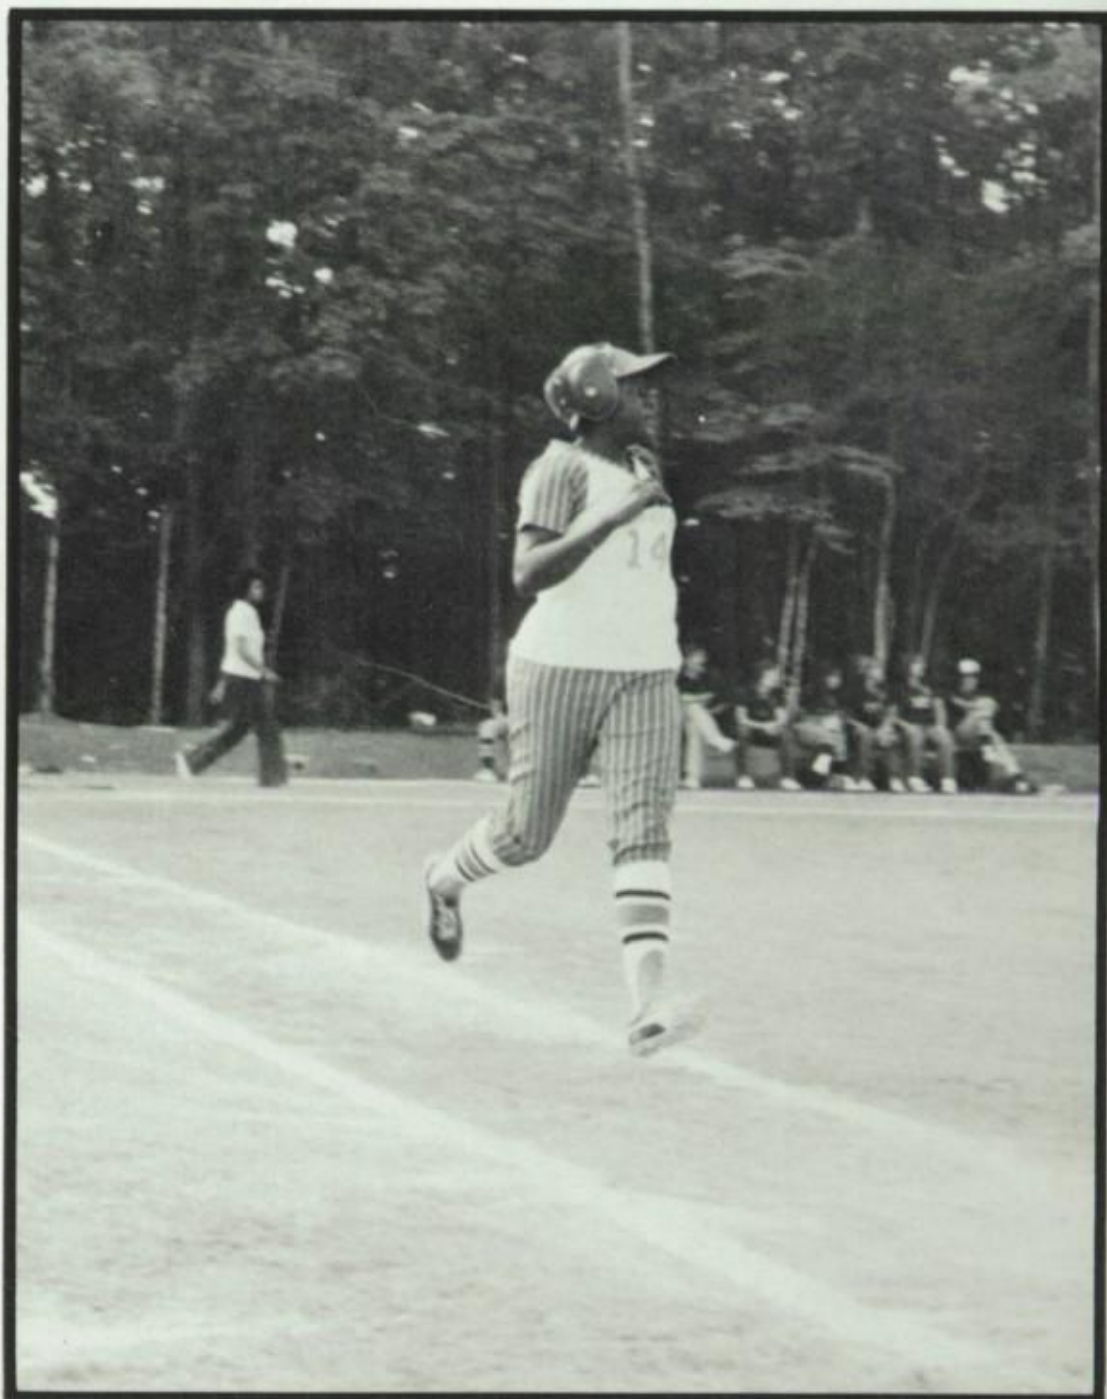

A third place finish was nothing to be ashamed of. As a matter of fact, it set the team's sights on first place in the eighties.

Wrestling

Want to hear some statistics about what an average OHS wrestler endures each season? If so, listen to these facts:

Between November and mid March each year, the average wrestler will lose 216 pounds of sweat, suffer 3 hurt knees, groins or ankles, 2 black eyes, 9 mat burns, 1 painful neck, 18 cuts or bruises and 3 uncategorized injuries. He will spend at least 275 hours directly involved with his team. For example, 125 hours will be spent at hard practice, 80 hours on trips, 10 hours for weigh-ins and pre-match meals, 25 hours dressing for practice, and 25 hours or more showering and dressing after practice. He will do at least 1700 sit-ups, 1650 push-ups, 140 minutes of bridging, wrestle 75 6-minute matches, perform over 600 20 — second execution drills and hear Coach King blow his whistle 1679 times. He will sacrifice in his eating habits. The average wrestler will eat 170 fewer slices of bread than he would consume off-season, pass up 163 slices of delicious pies and cakes, 39 doughnuts, 47 pancakes, have 105 fewer servings of potatoes, and sit down to much smaller meals at Thanksgiving and Christmas than most people.

Some, but far from all, of this agony will be forgotten when he literally "inhales" pre-match meals totaling approximately 34 hero sandwiches, 16 cans of Nutrament, 32 cans of soda, 84 Twinkies or cup-cakes, 42 oranges, 3 jars of honey and 32 candy bars. Brown bagging is a way of life for wrestlers during the season. But ... all of these SACRIFICES make up the "average" wrestler with an average seasonal record of 12 wins and 8 losses. Just imagine the sacrifice to earn the rare 20 and 0 record, but then again, he's ... THE CHAMPION!

MEN'S TRACK

The 1979 men's track team experienced a disappointing season, with a record of 6-6 overall, 3-5 conference.

Head Coach Melvin Dennis attributed the frustrating season to a lack of depth in many areas, along with a lack of enthusiasm among some runners. He commented that the 1979 season was a rebuilding year. The team was composed mainly of juniors and sophomores with only four seniors.

Although the season overall was disappointing, it was highlighted by many excellent athletes. Franklin Farrish provided the spark in the sprints, running the 100 yd. dash and 220 yd. dash. Roger Fowler showed his form in middle distances, seldom being defeated in the 440 yd. dash. Derek Murray was very skilled in the pole vault, and Randy Roberts, Mark Richter, and Craig Draughon provided the strength in distances.

—WOMEN'S TRACK—

The 1979 Lady Panther track team compiled one of its best records ever with a 6-3 season. The track team was only defeated by Northern Durham, Jordan, and narrowly by East Wake. The girls placed second in the conference meet to a strong Jordan team, but the Panthers gained revenge by defeating East Wake.

The coaches felt that although the team lacked depth in sprints, they more than compensated for this in the distance runs. With strong performances turned in by Sharyn Gates and Elizabeth Shearin in the 880 yd. run and the mile run, and by Susan Teitelbaum in the two mile run, the Lady Panthers could seldom be stopped. The 880 and mile relay teams were also excellent.

Many new records were set in the 1979 season. Sharyn Gates set new records in the 880 yd. run and the one mile run. Sharyn was joined by Elizabeth Shearin, Nancy Compton, and Valdes Snipes on the record-breaking mile relay team. Susan Teitelbaum showed her endurance with a new record in the two mile run.

—ACADEMICS—

As we moved through our high school careers, we pondered more and more what our future would hold. Yes, it was true that our future had become increasingly important each day. But we could not plan for the future before we had experienced the present. And even though we were faced with greater responsibilities and problems, we enjoyed friendship, school spirit, sports, victories, togetherness, growth, and a type of maturity we had never known we possessed. We learned a great deal during this time — not only about subjects such as chemistry, algebra, French, or English compositions, but about ourselves.

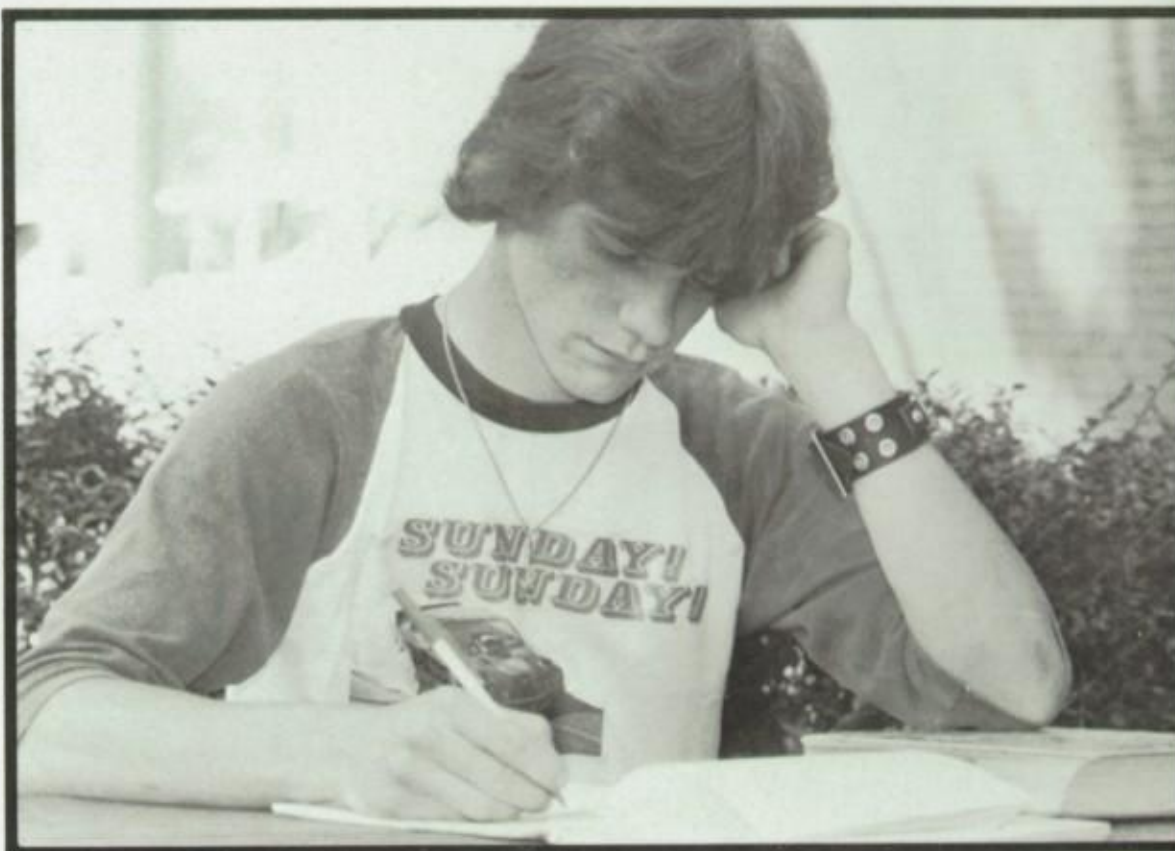

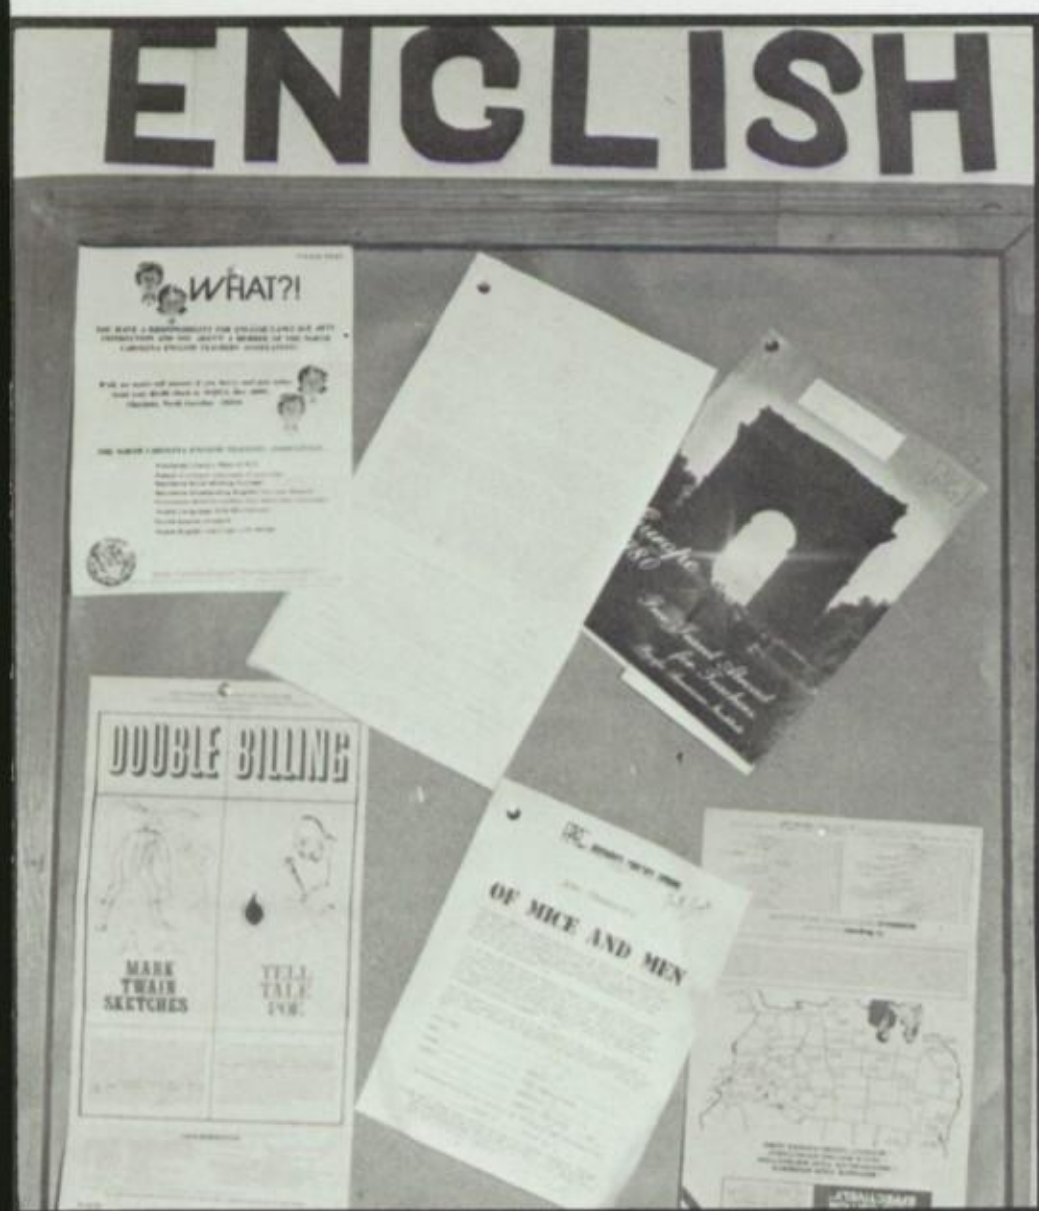

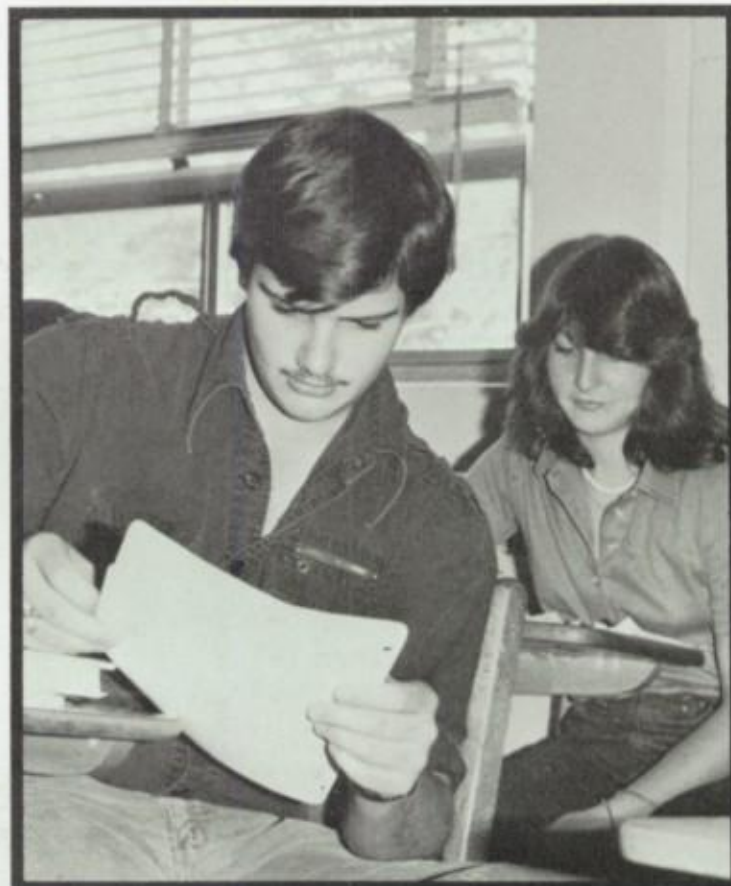

ENGLISH

The foundation of any high school curriculum is English and all of its facets. Not only the basic skills are important, but also a serious in-depth study of composition, literary styles and the fine points of syntax is necessary for the seniors to be competitive in the 80's. Unlike in the past, students are now held accountable in their yearly gains in skills. Now their knowledge is measured in competency tests, achievement tests, PSAT's, SAT's, and advanced placement tests — in addition to regular mid-terms and final exams.

On a positive note, much progress has been made; only a small percentage had to struggle with competency requirements; the SAT scores were the highest in many years; and several graduates would receive college credits.

History

The History Department offers many courses to choose from. Survey of Europe is an especially exciting course, which deals with history from the beginning of time to the present. Other courses, which are offered, are Wild, Wild West, Asia, Women in History, Black History, Colonization to Reconstruction, and others. Whichever class one selects, one is sure to find it an interesting learning experience thanks to a highly qualified staff of teachers. Furthermore, the yearly additions of new filmstrips and discussions of daily news events help to enhance these exciting courses of study. History is, indeed, one department that never lacks variety.

Math

The math courses, which are offered, include General Math, Consumer Math, Algebra II, Trigonometry, Calculus, Mathematical Analysis, and Geometry.

General Math consists of learning how to add, subtract, multiply, and divide. The basics of mathematics are taught.

Consumer math is designed for the economically minded person. Learning to figure out the amount of sales tax, how to balance checkbooks, how to compute income tax, and how to obtain credit cards are only a few of the activities which take place in this class.

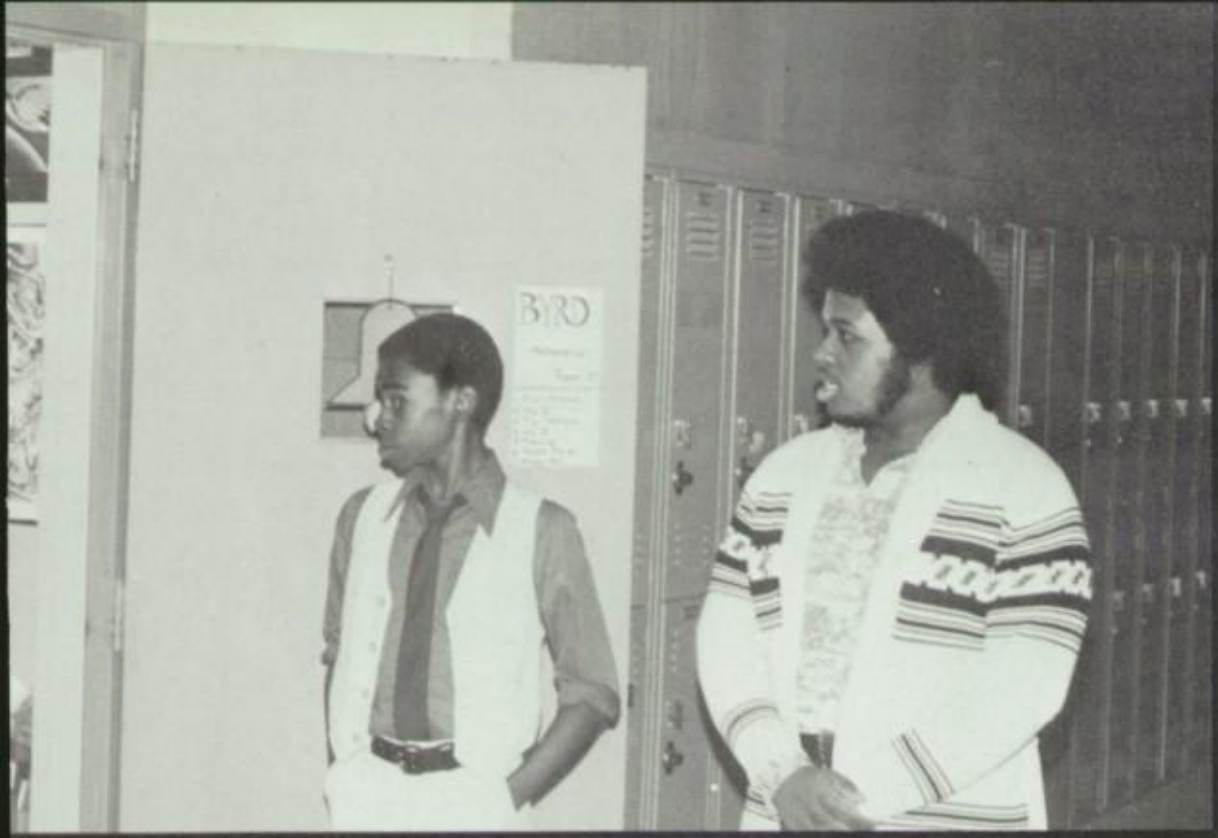

The Algebra courses are for the college-bound students. Learning how to set up equations, computing square roots, simplifying polynomials, and using quadratic formulas are some of the basics in Algebra.

Geometry concerns the study of angles. It consists of reasoning out proofs, measuring the degrees of angles, and learning theorems and postulates. Geometry is a useful tool in many aspects of life.

Trigonometry, Calculus, and Mathematical Analysis are the most advanced sections of math taught at Orange. Learning about the unit circle, vectors, imaginary numbers, and finding polar coordinates are part of everyday life in these classes.

Science

Science is a world of searching and discovering. Many questions need to be answered, and students search to find those answers. In Sophomore Biology, students explore the bodies of animals by dissecting them. This activity may sound "gross," but it can be fun to see what a grasshopper looks like on the inside.

Rarely a dull moment occurs in the science classes at Orange. Activities range from studying explosives in the chemistry lab (unplanned) to examining amoeba under a microscope. Advanced Biology and Physics are also courses in Science, which are offered. The basics of Sophomore Biology are used in Advanced Biology although the latter goes into more detail and depth. Physics deals with the study of matter and energy and the relationship of both.

French and Spanish are the foreign languages offered at Orange. This year is the first year that Spanish has been offered. Students in French I and Spanish I learn how to count, to say the alphabet, and to speak simple phrases and sentences.

French II and Spanish II consist of learning verb tenses, writing essays and having conversations in these foreign tongues. Additionally, students have a chance to sample the French cuisine as well as Mexican foods.

Other foreign language classes which are offered are the following: French III, IV; Spanish III, IV. When one has completed all of the courses, one will be able to speak fluently. N'est-ce pas, mes amis? Si, si, señores.

Band

1979-1980 was a year of firsts for the band program.

This year was the first full year in the new and wonderful bandroom. Also, it was the first year with O.H.S.'s own Big Daddy as a fulltime director at Orange. Furthermore, it was the first year with a Wind Ensemble, which performed at the coveted Grade VI level, with the Symphonic Band, performing in Grade V. Finally, this year was the first year ever for our Percussion Ensemble and Advancement Band — all in all, a banner year in band.

Music

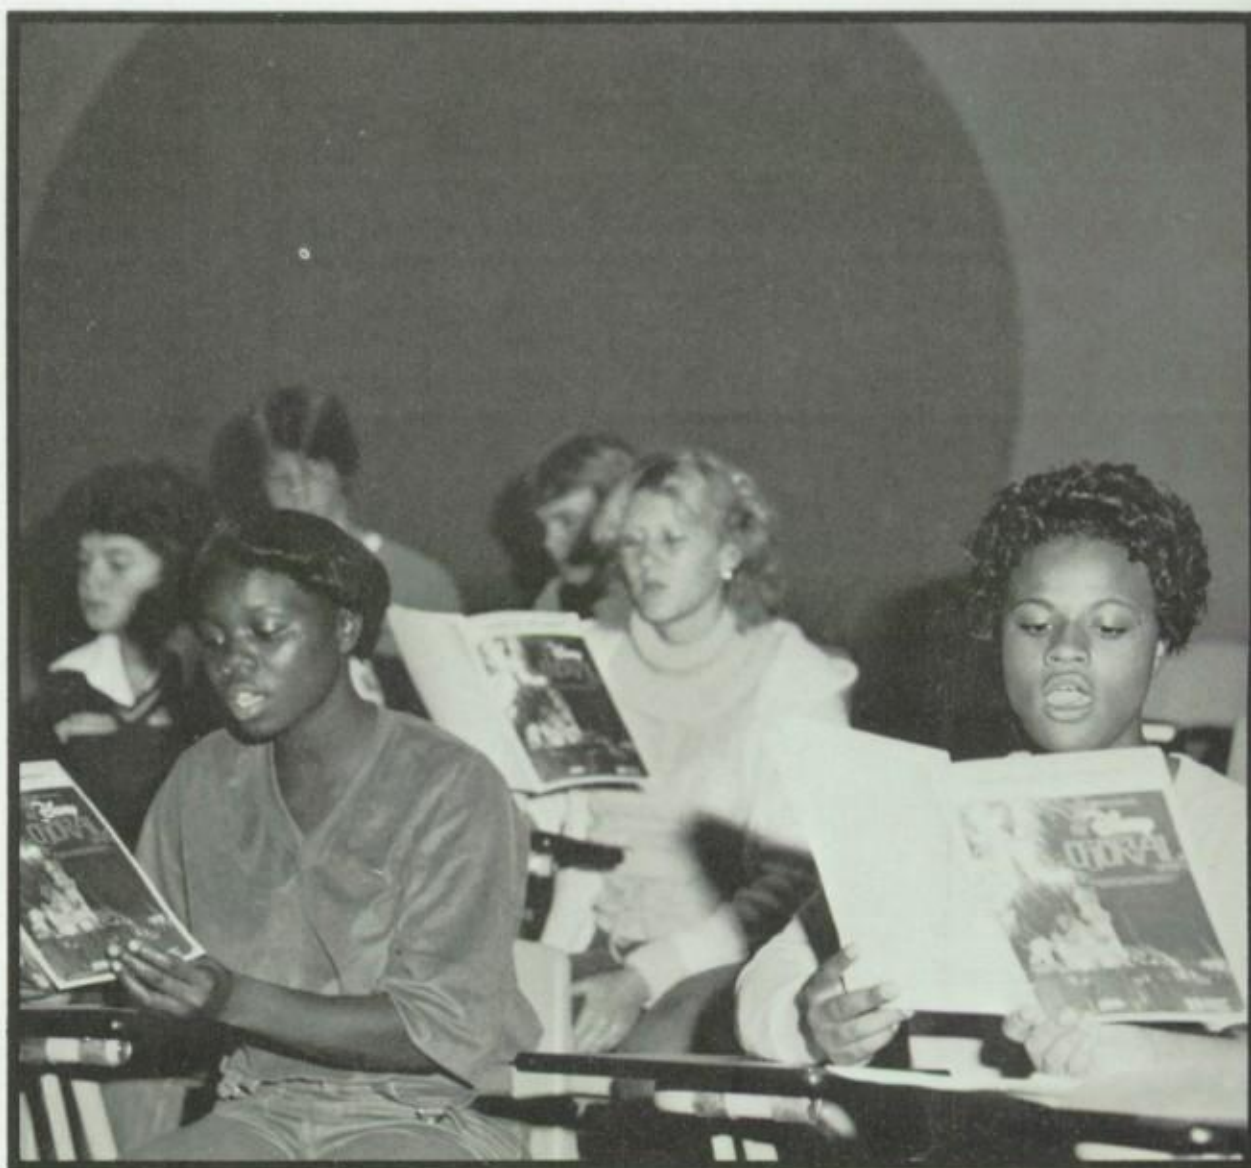

If singing is one of your interests, then you are in luck. There are several music classes to choose from. They are Music, Voice Class, Mixed Chorus, Girls' Chorus, and Concert Choir. A Music Theory Class is also offered, which teaches the basics of reading notes and music.

Mixed Chorus is composed of boys and girls in order to achieve a mixed quality. Girls' Chorus is composed of girls, naturally. The Music Voice Class is taught for the benefit of students who wish to improve their vocal abilities.

Art

Art is an elective course at Orange. A General Art class and an Advanced one are part of the curriculum. The general class is for beginners; the basics of drawing, painting, making ceramics, and painting murals are taught.

The Advanced Art class is for the more serious-minded art student who has had previous classes or experience. These students complete more self-oriented projects than the General Art class. They design and create their own artistic projects.

Drama

The drama department offers the following classes: Beginning Drama, Acting I, Production I and II, and Stagecrafts. Beginning Drama and Acting I are for students who are just starting out in the field of drama. They learn the technical terms of acting and the stage. These students learn the basic acting, as well as the fundamentals of putting a production together.

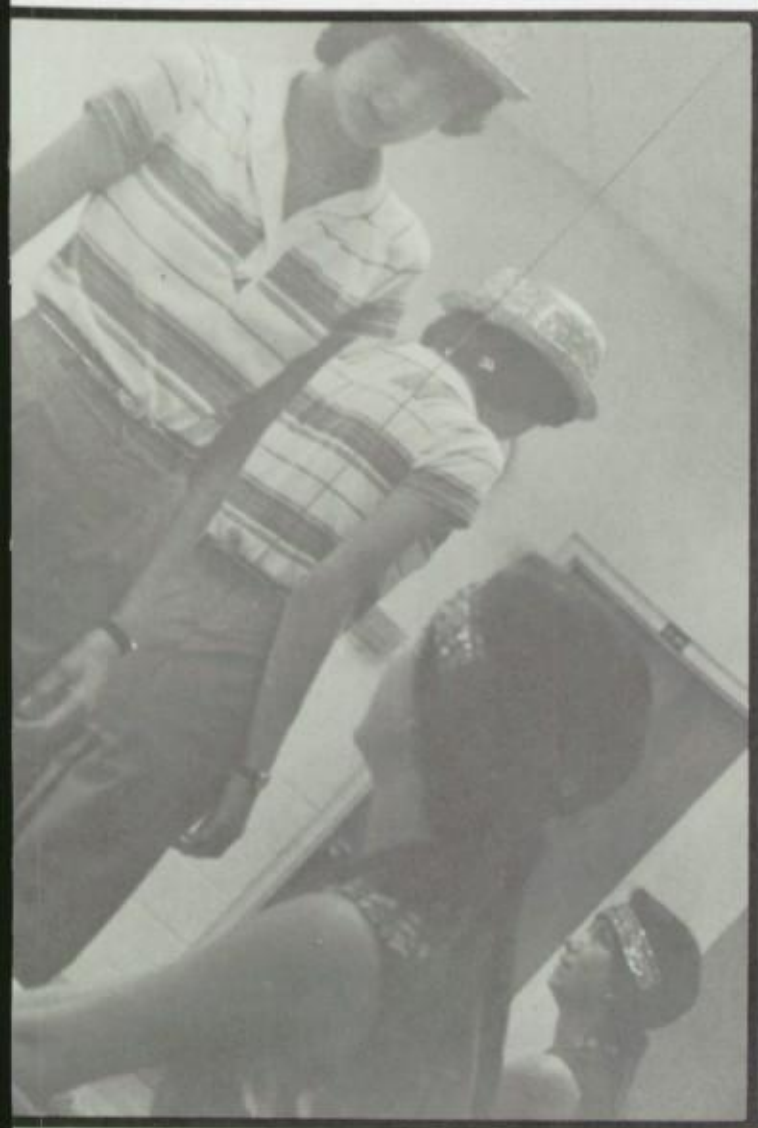

Students in the Production class have had previous classes or experience in drama. They produce and perform in the dramatic productions at Orange each year. These students also perform in competition plays in the fall and spring. They compete against other schools from North Carolina, striving very hard to be outstanding for Orange High School as well as for themselves.

During the Stagecrafts class, students design and construct props and other articles needed for Drama Productions. Students do everything from sewing costumes to building huge sets.

All of the classes have to work together at times just like one big family. It takes all of them to insure a good production.

Physical Education

Unlike ordinary classes at Orange High, the Physical Education classes exercise not only our minds, but also our bodies. Participation in a variety of sports allows each student to develop his talent by reaching his full physical potential.

Physical Education is taught daily by coaches Jim King and Lynn James. The classes teach students many recreational games, basketball, flag football, weight training, wrestling, and other skills. Physical Education is a semester course filled with fun and often hard work. P.E. enables students to develop a sound body, as well as a sound mind.

Business

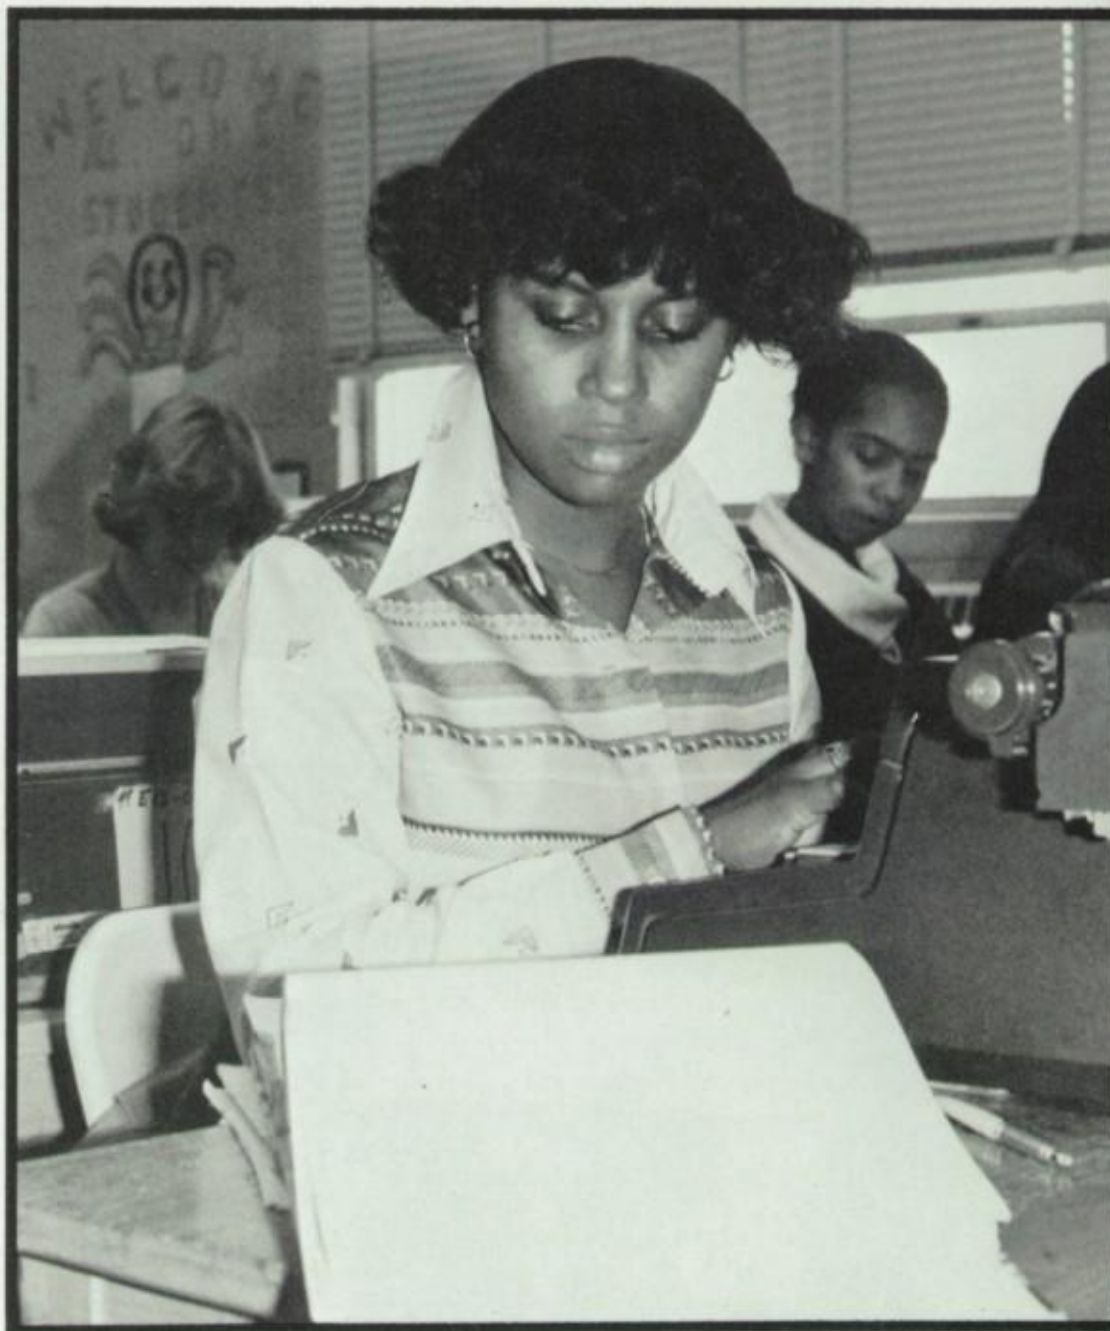

Several business courses are offered at Orange. They are Typing I and II, Accounting I and II, Business Law, Marketing and Distribution, Health Occupations, Data Processing, Office Occupations and others.

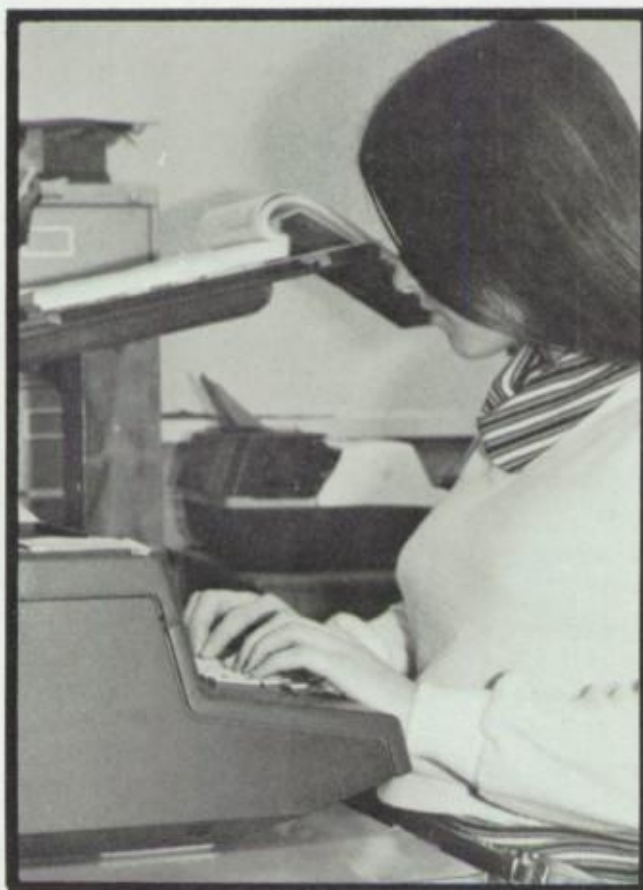

These courses are for the business-minded student. After completing these courses, the students are prepared for a job in the business fields. Students may acquire jobs pertaining to everything from secretarial work to a Nurse's Aide.

The business courses are very important to the students. They acquire skills from which they will benefit in the job market for the rest of their lives. After completion of their business courses, O.H.S. graduates are ready and prepared to face the 80's.

Vocational Education

The Vocational Department touches the lives of many students at Orange High School. It gives them an opportunity to combine brain power and hand power while completing many worthwhile projects.

Vocational Education helps to prepare students for jobs which do not necessarily require an advanced degree. With this purpose in mind, O.H.S. offers a wide variety of vocational courses, which include Carpentry, Bricklaying, Drafting, Home Economics, and Electricity.

Home Economics teaches interested young women and men about family relationships, child growth and development, home management, as well as sewing and cooking.

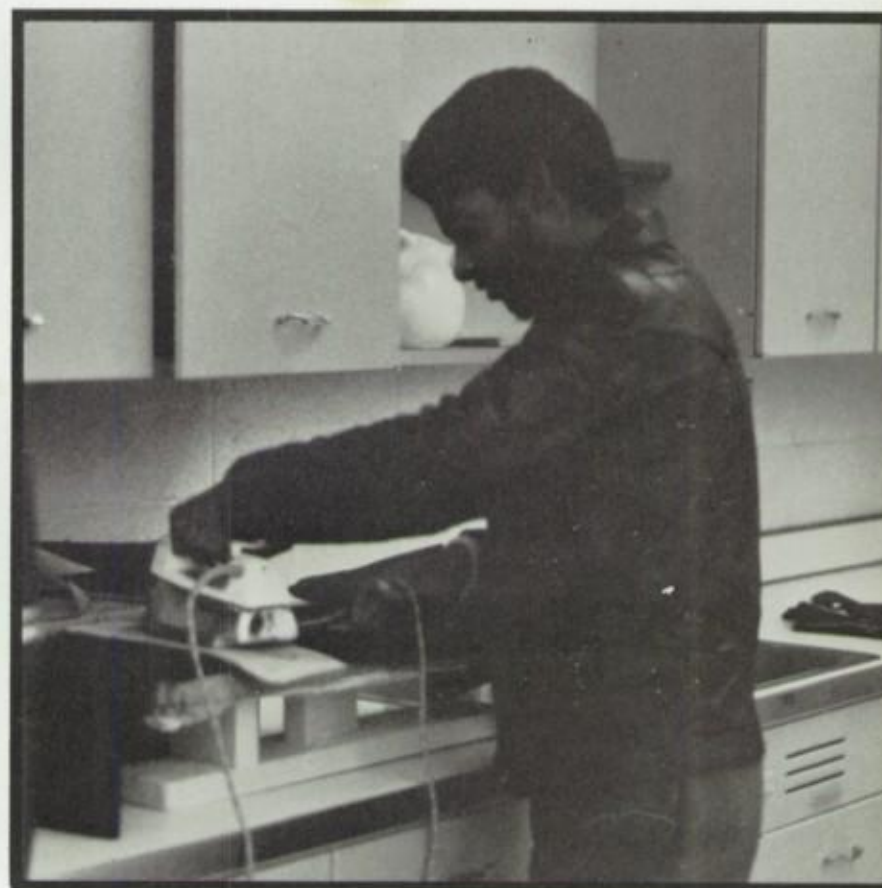

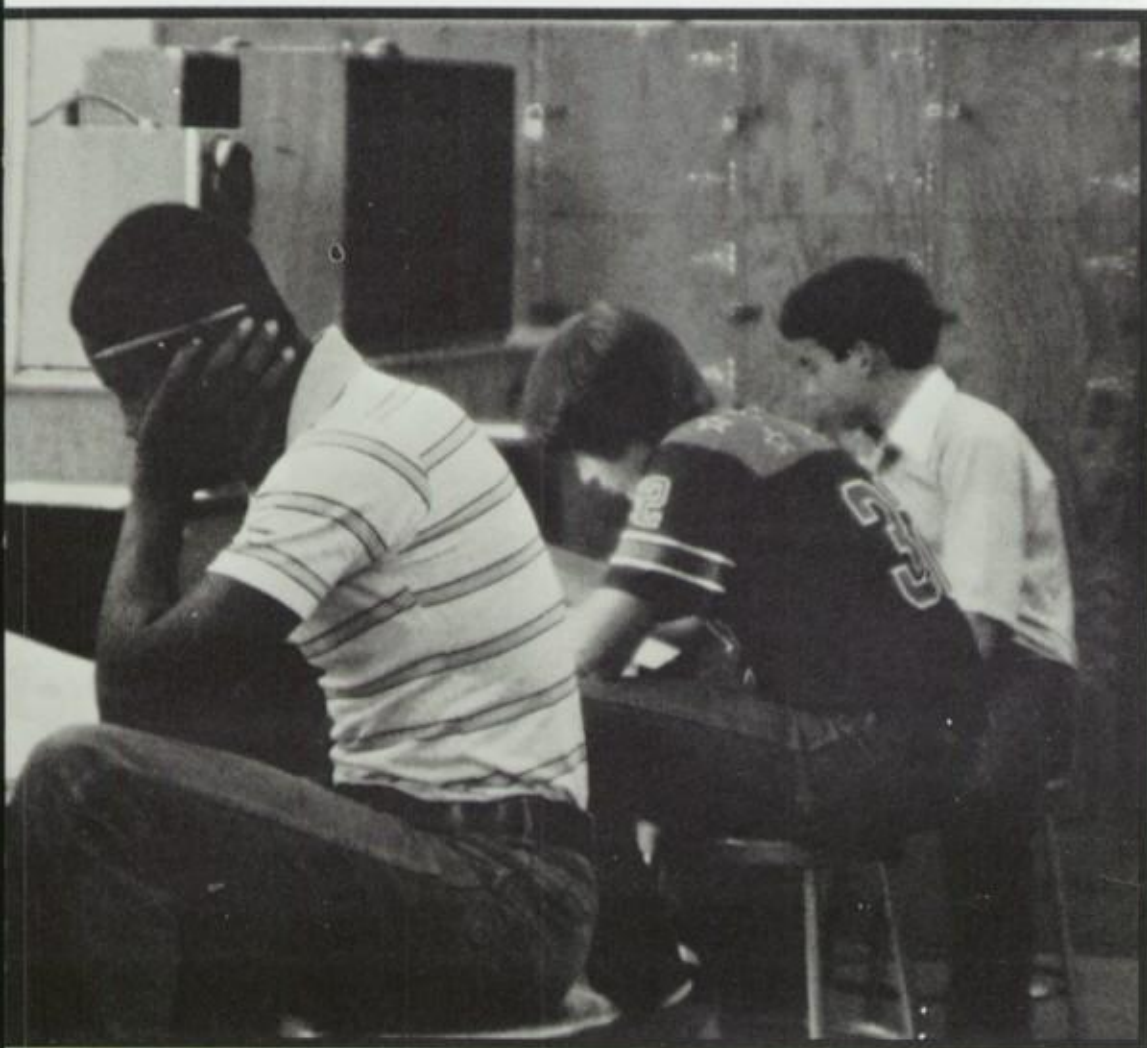

The Bricklaying, Carpentry, and Electronics classes combine their mental skills to put together a spectacular project every year — the "project house." When the house is completed, each student feels tremendous pride and a sense of achievement.

Vocational Education is still expanding at O.H.S., and more students are becoming interested. The variety of courses gives each student an opportunity to participate in an activity he enjoys. Whether he takes the beginning vocational courses or the more advanced courses, such as Carpentry II and Advanced Home Economics, every student benefits from the firsthand experience.

Agriculture — Horticulture

Agricultural Education has become very popular at Orange High School. Many students are now interested in learning more about plant science and farm production. At O.H.S., Agricultural Education is a broad field which offers courses in Agriculture and Horticulture.

Agricultural courses teach students about such topics as animal, soil, and plant sciences, farm management, farm safety, and marketing farm products.

Horticulture is a branch of agriculture that specializes in the production and use of fruits, vegetables, shrubs, and flowers. The courses at Orange High School are designed to help students learn about landscape design, bedding plants, canning goods, and greenhouse plant production.

Agriculture and Horticulture courses enable many students at O.H.S. to enjoy such hobbies as flower arranging, gardening, plant breeding, and livestock management.

True, it's not as exciting as "Lou Grant," but Den Echoes is definitely exciting. Whether it's slaving to make that infamous deadline or trading jokes, sixth period is a bright spot in the day.

Published in the News of Orange County, Den Echoes is a one-page "weekly", with a biannual six-page edition. While writing for Den Echoes, one may cover many things; even creative outpourings will all be tackled by a Den Echoes reporter before the year is over. Den Echoes does not only mean good writing, but photography, graphic design, and editing also take their respective places in this vital news machine.

When news needs to be covered, issues need reviewing, or life needs a bit of light humor, newspapers get the job done. And the Den Echoes staff does the job very well.

Reflections

Much has been said about student apathy and a general "I don't care" attitude among high school students, but the perpetrators of these critical statements are totally wrong when it comes to the Reflections yearbook class. In this class an atmosphere of concern prevails. The dedication and spirit go far beyond the boundaries of regular classwork. Only in this aura of hard work and special efforts is it possible for the impossible deadlines to be met. But after they have been met, a sensational feeling of satisfaction and relief exists. Some people might stop and say, "Why do the yearbook members do it?" The answer is "because they care enough about the school and the people in it to put forth an effort to produce a good yearbook." The staff members realize that hard work, pressures, and headaches will pass, but that the memories presented in the 1980 Reflections will last forever.

Guidance — Library

Life at Orange High School includes many classes and activities. Additionally, students have to learn to cope with everyday problems. Frequently, students need a quiet place to contemplate — to find a place without pressures. At O.H.S. it's not difficult to find such an escape. Maybe just one talk with a guidance counselor about personal problems, colleges, or life in general, will ease one's mind. Perhaps just one quiet hour of reading, studying, or thinking in the library will give a student a little break from an otherwise hectic and trying day.

Both of these places (the Guidance Department and the Media Center) offer warmth and friendship and a place to breathe. Whether it be talking, listening, reading, or thinking, at O.H.S. these areas offer us our escapes.

Top right: Gail Justice and Susie Morris ask Mrs. Pettit about the card catalogue.

I.S.S. — Drug Counseling

One would like to think that the disciplinary problems at O.H.S. are extinct. The truth is that some students still break rules, and they still get caught.

When students feel the need to break rules, the fate that awaits them is a little room called ISS (In-School Suspension). In the ISS room, one does nothing but work which is provided by various teachers. The coordinators of ISS are Mrs. Rickman and Mr. Faucette.

Top Left: Mrs. Penn, Director of the Drug Counseling Program, reads a book on alcohol and its problems.

CAMPUS LIFE

Time, however, is universal, and waits for no one. None of us know what's ahead for us. None of us can decipher the writings of the next hour, the next day, week — or a lifetime. Therefore, we must be prepared.

We also never know when events will occur in quick succession, when they will brightly pass before us, or worse, go unnoticed. These uncertainties make us want to grasp time and hold it still forever — while simultaneously we lean forward into life, reaching into tomorrow. Daily we venture, we search, we strive — for our identities, our own style, our lives, our times ...

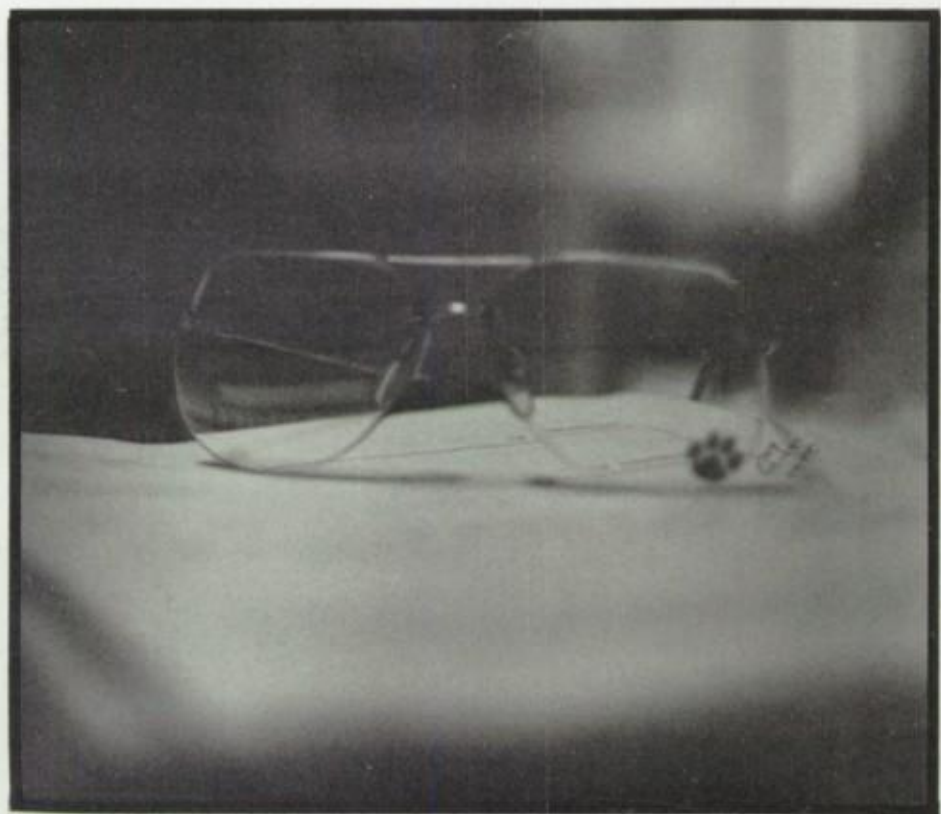

Orange Is What

We Make It . . .

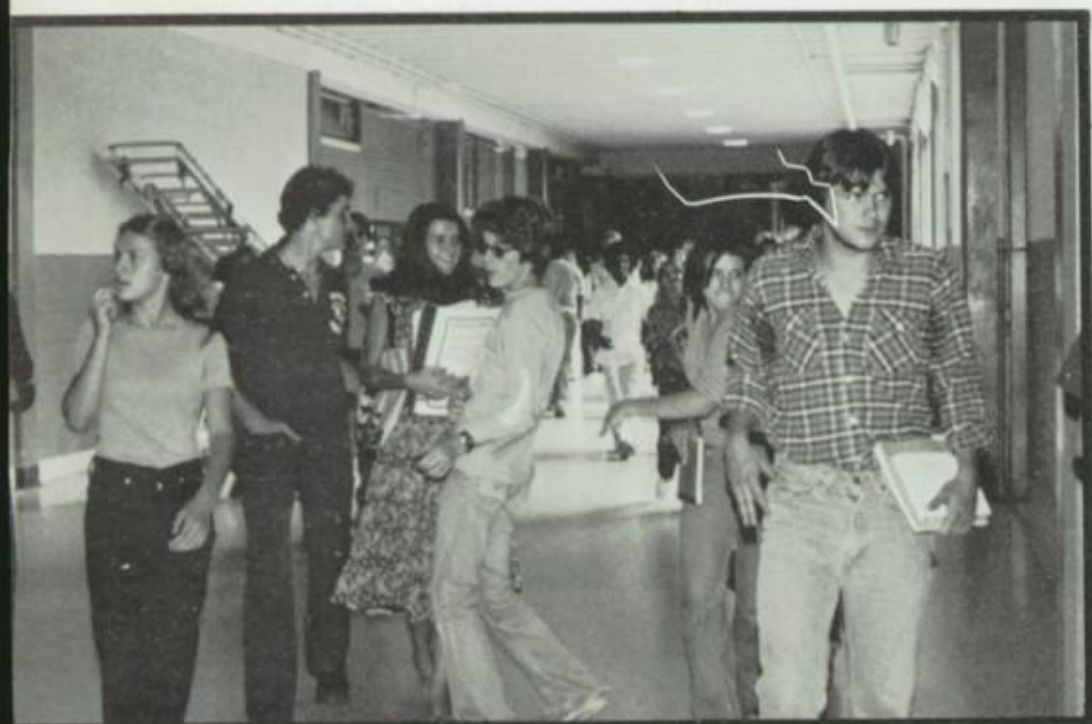

Emptied of students and teachers, Orange High School would simply be a mass of bricks, cement, glass, and steel not any different from the countless other buildings in the area. Most buildings are boring and cause no emotions to be conjured from a person visiting. Even a school building filled with books and learning materials is totally meaningless without that one special ingredient — people. The students and faculty are what make Orange a great place to be. The people give the building a certain vitality, flavor, and meaning. Orange High School is made not only of bricks, cement, glass, and steel, but of the students, teachers, and administrators that fill the classrooms and hallways with life.

740211

... We Make

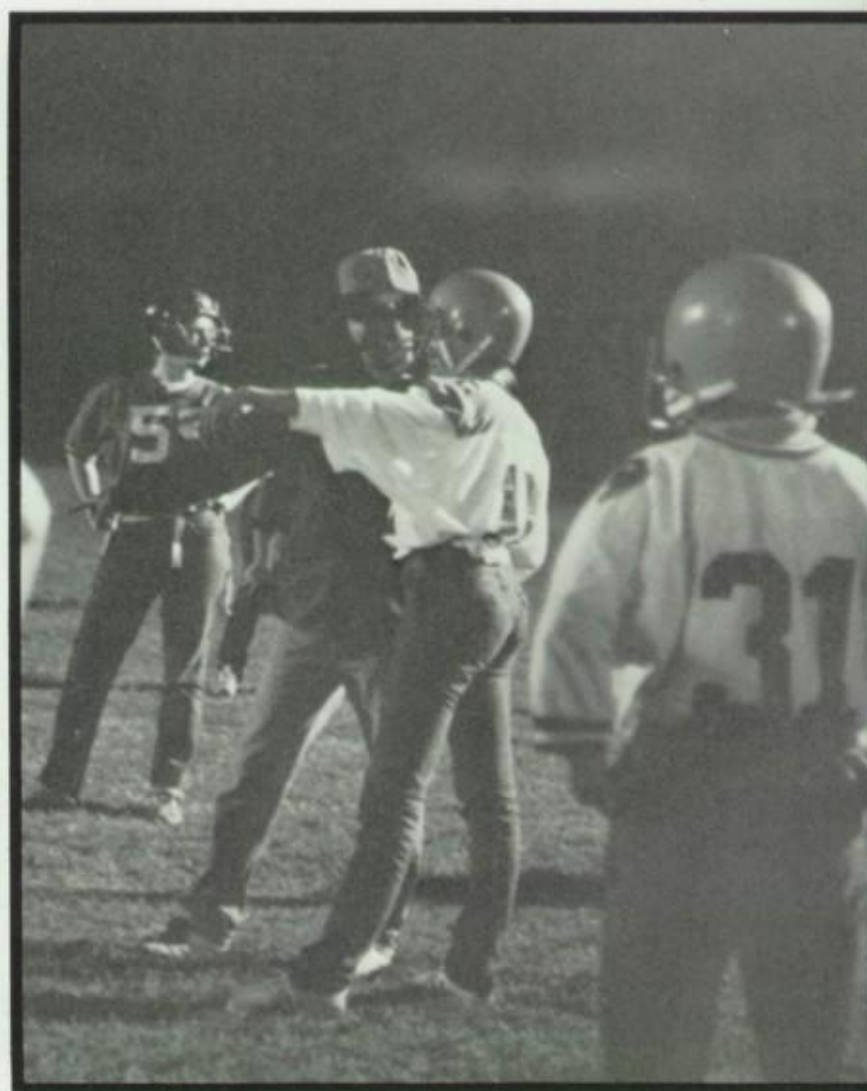

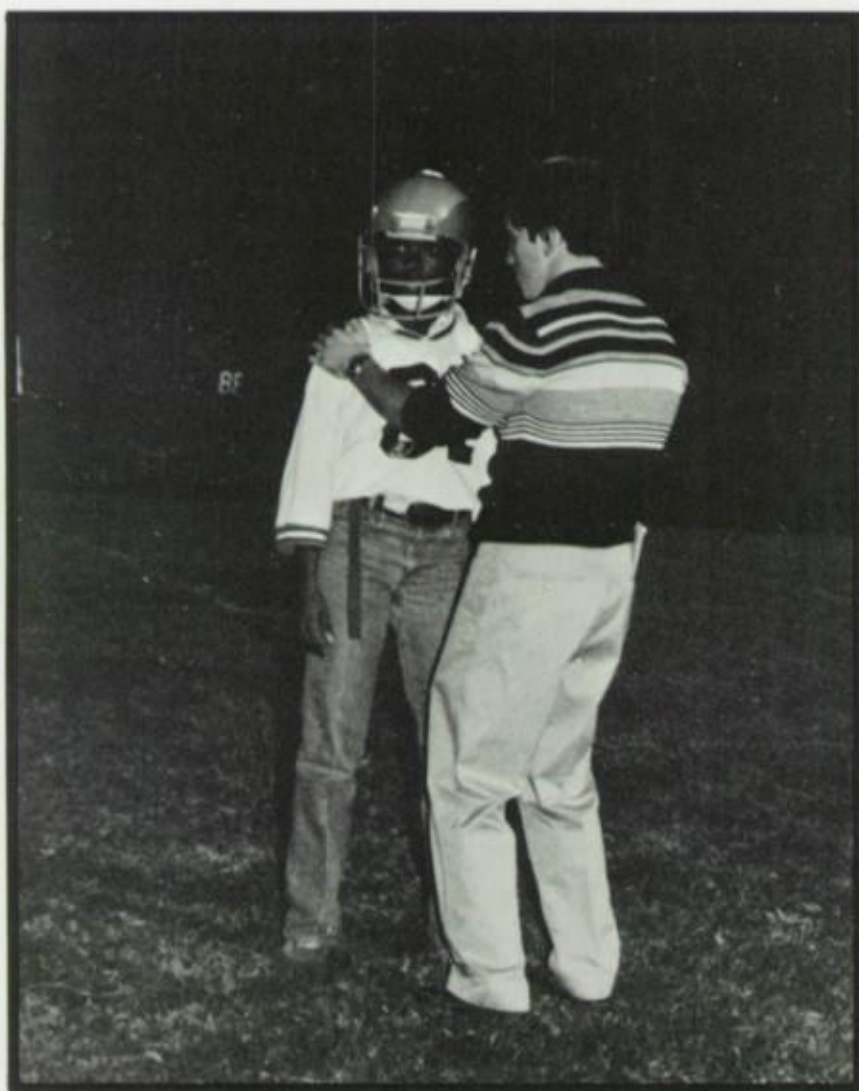

It Great!!

Is a structure filled with students and teachers all that is necessary to comprise a happy campus? No, one more element is necessary to make Orange High School a truly great school — SPIRIT. Spirit is the component that adds spice to school life. It makes school fun and exciting, instead of boring and tedious. It is up to each individual student, however, to decide whether or not he wants to have that Panther Spirit. Sometimes the decision takes a little thought and effort. The teams don't always win, classes aren't always stimulating, but if one has spirit, the good times will always outnumber the bad. As one walks down the hallway and sees the smiles and content faces, it is evident what decision the students have made.

Sex Change For A Night

On a chilly night in the end of October, 44 juniors and 43 seniors set out to determine who was #1. The sport was football, but the players were not the usual, big, muscular Orange Panthers. The guys and girls had switched places for a night, with the girls decked out in jerseys and helmets and a few daring boys in full cheerleading uniforms. The scene was set for the 1979 Powder Bowl.

After almost two hours of grueling effort, the senior team emerged the victor with a final score of 16-6. Senior touchdowns were scored by Sandra Edwards and Jackie Farrish, with two PAT's scored by Sandra Edwards, also. Gail Farrish of the junior team scored the only junior touchdown.

—Who's The Fairest Of Them All?—

An epidemic of Orange Fever spread throughout the school during Spirit Week 1979. Seniors, Juniors, and Sophomores competed in "wild and crazy" activities to earn points. Costumed as hillbillies, wearing old shirts with autographs of the football players, stomping Trojan feet, and licking lollipops, all students enjoyed the week of Homecoming. Of the forever-lasting class challenges, the Senior Class won by acquiring the most points. On October 26, the traditional Homecoming parade began the evening's excitement as decorative floats displayed proud Panther spirit. During the half-time show, the girls on the court anxiously awaited the results of their school's voting. Tears streamed, smiles brightened, and hugs were shared, as Myra Torain and Beth Durham were crowned the '79-'80 Homecoming Queens of OHS. The attack of Orange Fever had, indeed, been cured.

- Marching Panthers — Little Big Band -

Many people at Orange may not realize it, but marching band is not just any other extra-curricular activity. In many aspects, marching band stands out. At about the same time football practice starts in August, the Marching Panthers are beginning their season, also. Many hours are spent in practice to build an impressive show for games and competitions. Many of the arduous hours of practice go into arranging the music. The rest of the time goes into the choreography of the routines.

This year the Marching Panthers' style changed a little. In the past the band has always been complimented on their "G.E." or general effects. This year, however, G.E. was one of the biggest factors in the show.

Even before marching season began, a small group of Marching Panthers went to a corps-style competition in Cary, and from there many tips were gained for the improvement of the show. One of those tips was the Bridgeman Step, which added a little pizzaz to the show. The biggest crowd-pleaser and eye-opener, however, was the band's Mylar Routine. Although this routine was quite attractive, it took the spectators a few seconds to catch their breaths and applaud because of its innovative and exciting aspects.

The Marching Panthers are indeed a very proud and spirited organization. The members are hard-working students who devote a lot of time and effort, and this effort always pays off in the end.

Panther Pastimes

One of the many good features in and around OHS, the great variety of clubs, gives the students a chance to choose and enjoy more of what they like best. Being in a club enables a student to escape temporarily from the hard work and the long classes usually found in a school day. Clubs fill up the extra time that a student might have, perhaps, keeping him out of trouble. Clubs also give a student a chance to get involved and to belong to something — to feel important.

Many activities occur in the different clubs at Orange. Discussions, projects, yard sales, and parties are just a few of the enjoyable and educational activities in which students participate. Clubs help to brighten the atmosphere at Orange High School, and it is good to have teachers who care enough to put in that extra work so that these clubs can exist.

Ladies' Night

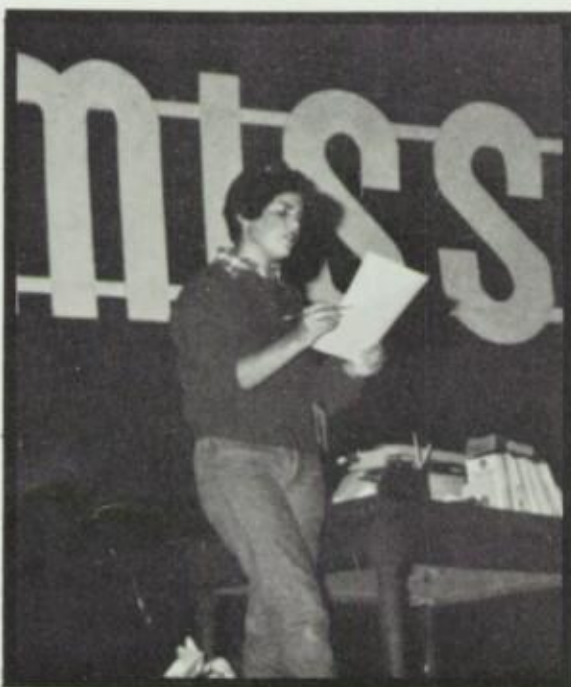

On the evening of November 3, 1979, a very special event took place in the Orange High School auditorium. To a person in the audience, it may have seemed as though the pageant was composed of girls with only smiles and make-up, but a lot more than that went into the show. For two weeks a group of eighteen young ladies set out to put together what was seen that very night, the Hillsborough Junior Miss Pageant of 1979.

Each girl had to learn many new things: that awkward but feminine walk for "poise and appearance," Johnna Forrester's dance version to "Makin' It," a unique talent of her own, and last of all, how to hold a continuous, bright and shining smile. It was not easy, to say the least. This production demanded that each girl depend on the others. Patience and cooperation are what held the show together. It was not so much competition, but friendship, laughter, love, and support that existed between the eighteen young ladies.

The day of the pageant consisted of nervousness and total chaos for the contestants. The luncheon and interviews took up most of the day. Then the evening arrived. The backstage room was filled with long dresses and hot curlers — not to mention frantic girls — but as each one composed herself and stepped onto the stage, with its bright lights and flashing cameras, the work and excitement suddenly seemed worthwhile. The night for the girls and the night for the pageant turned out to be one beautiful success.

Working To Make It Great

Composed of students from each grade, the Student Government Association works to make Orange High great. Ten representatives from each class, chosen by election, make up the association. These students, together with advisors Mrs. Harriss and Mr. Champion, do projects throughout the year to help make things run smoothly and to make Orange a better place. Some of these projects include the organization of Homecoming, Keep the Cafeteria Clean Week, and Christmas service projects. The members agree that being a representative is both fulfilling and fun.

Orange High School students are not just ordinary students; they are Panthers. They fill OHS with a special meaning because life at Orange is only what we make it, and we make it great!

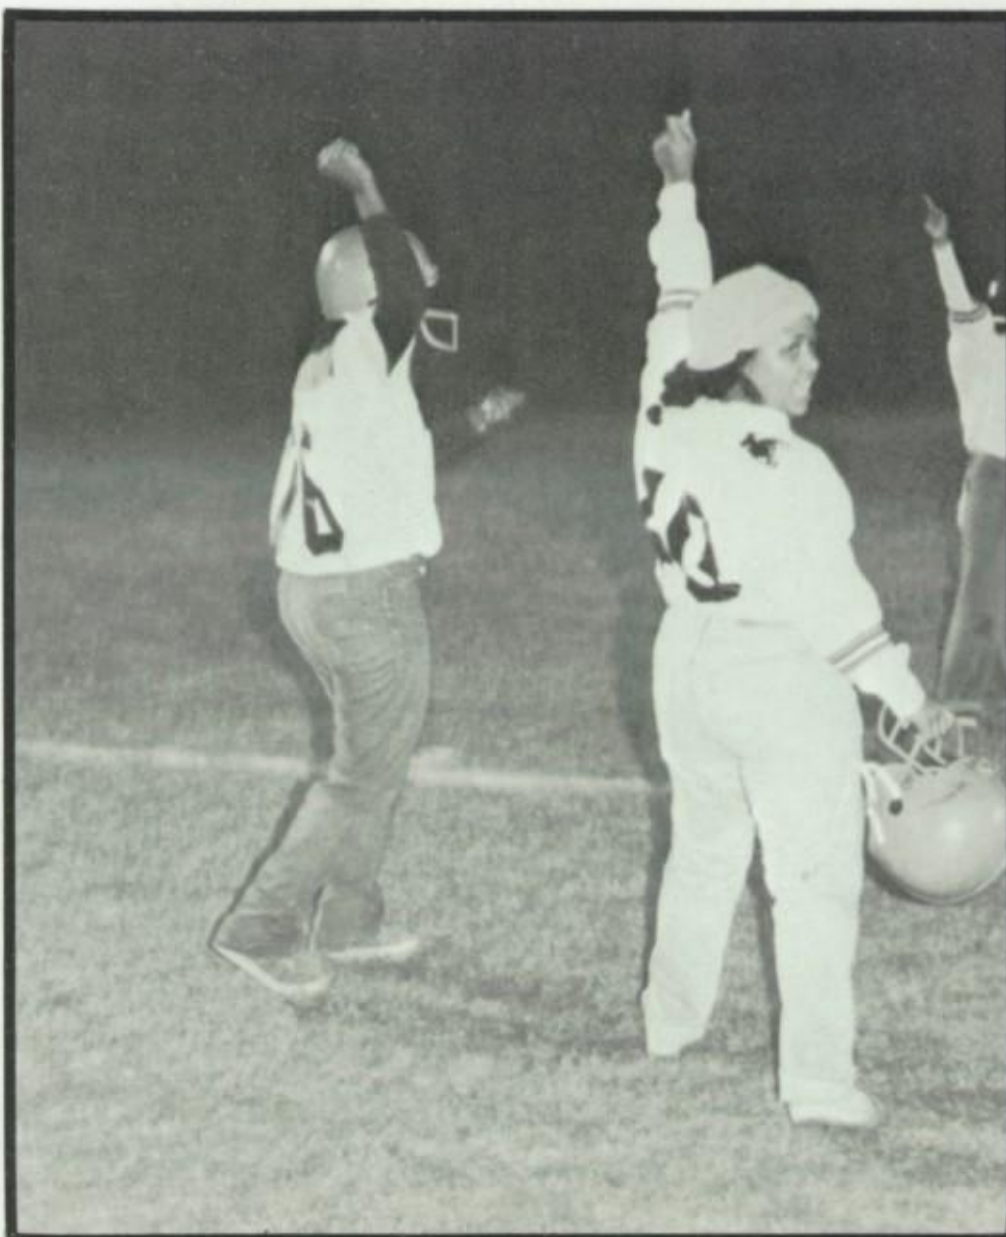

PEOPLE

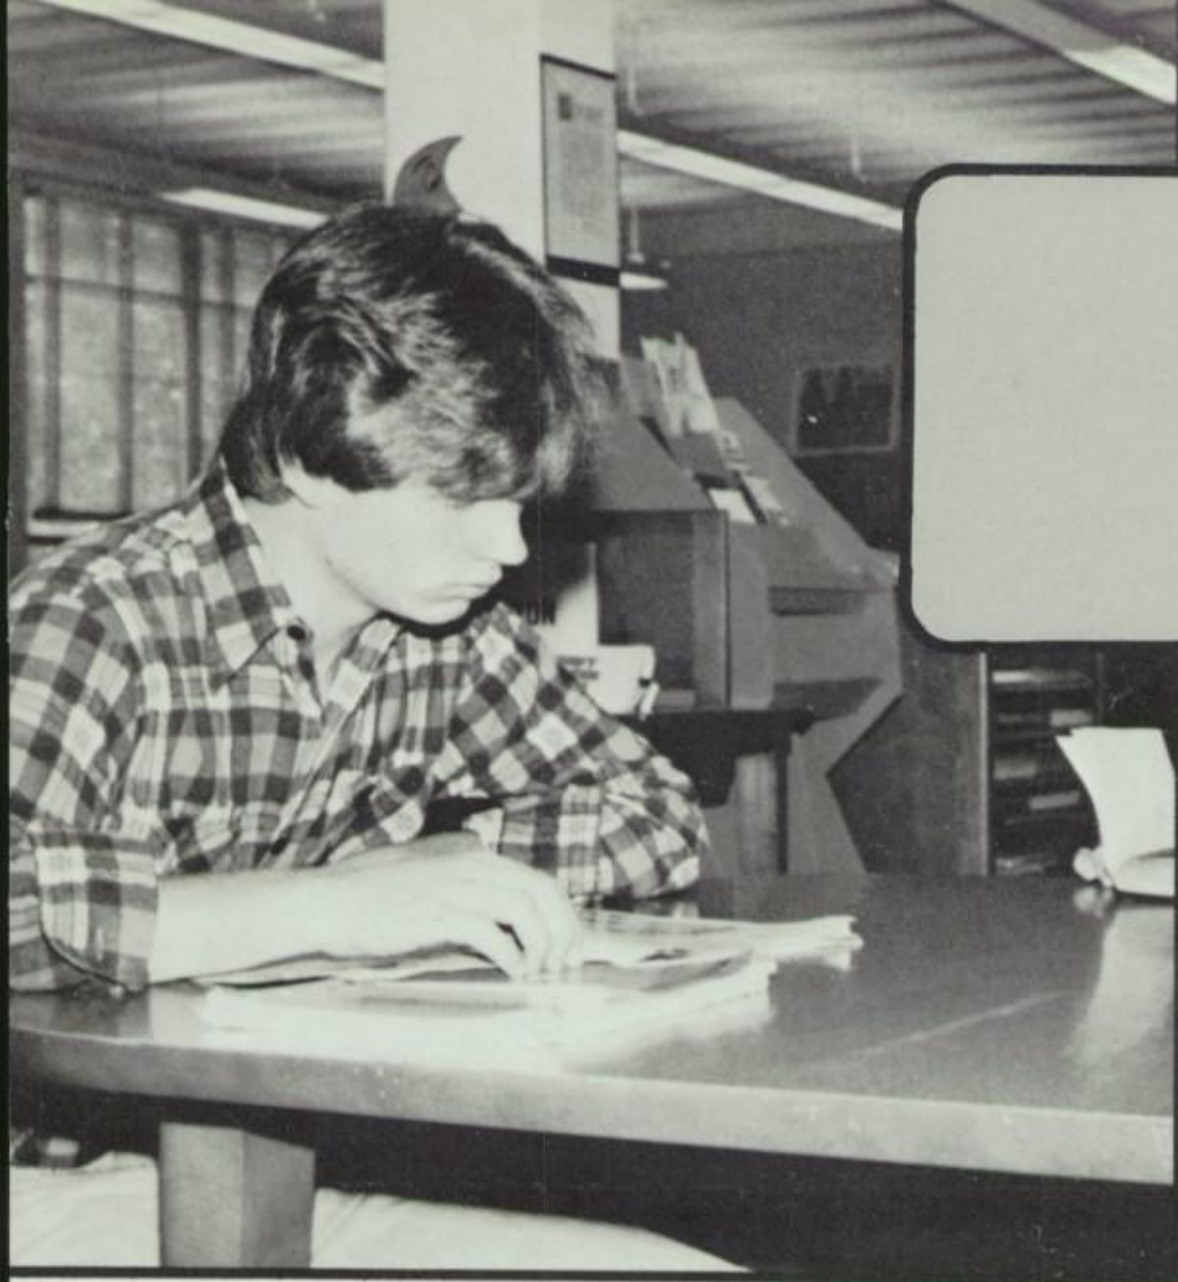

What does time mean without people sharing, using, and even wasting it with other people? Friends are the greatest source of togetherness, one can have, especially during our high school times, and having them made our days here much more enjoyable. Indeed, time, success, self-realization and many other aspects of our lives were made more memorable by our friends, the very special people of Orange High School.

SENIORS

CLASS OF 1980

Perhaps all of us should try to grasp the meaning of time better. Perhaps we should think of it in a seasonal aspect. We seniors have finished our last season at Orange — and look forward to our first after high school. With this in mind, let us remember the words of the Prophet:

"... Adjust your conduct and even direct the course of your spirit according to hours and seasons, let each season encircle all the other seasons.

"And let today embrace the past with remembrance and the future with longing."

And let us pledge ourselves to improvements of not only our town, our state but even of this world — so that we will make it a better place for the next generation. Then, perhaps, events of the seventies, such as the Iranian Crisis, will not occur again in the eighties.

A high school student's junior year is an extremely thrilling and important time in his life. Excitement and tension build throughout the year.

The junior year, as arduous as it is comprehensive, includes such tasks as competency testing, participating in chemistry labs, and taking PSATs. More enjoyable events, however, such as Powder Bowl and the Junior-Senior prom, occur also.

Although the junior year is a somewhat difficult one, the time is well spent — for this year's juniors will become next year's seniors, and they will soon venture out into the world to begin a new life.

— COMMUNITY —

Now the year had passed; another section of time was gone. Had we used it well? Would we use time even better in the future? Would we measure up to the standards and expectations of our community? Indeed, aren't we a reflection of our community? Ofcourse, we are; Hillsborough, Efland, Cedar Grove, and other areas of Orange County have been a part of most of our lives since our educational journey began. These places have given us many blessings, and their merchants and townspeople have contributed much to make our lives better. Therefore, perhaps some of us will make even greater contributions in the future. We'll try, no matter what!

INNOVATIVE PACKAGING CONCEPTS

Cone fabrics have meant ease and comfort right from the start... since 1895, when Americans first started living in them.

One of our early offerings was Cone deeptone denim. And soon we became the leading manufacturer of this popular fabric.

Next came corduroy. Once the fabric of kings, it became a favorite among Americans of all ages.

But Cone didn't stop there. In fact, denim and corduroy are just two of the many fabrics that have won acclaim for Cone Mills in its 84-year history.

Today, with 20 modern plants, Cone creates a whole line of quality fabrics for casualwear, sportswear, uniforms and career apparel. Fabrics for home decorating and sewing — even polyurethane foam — are now a part of the Cone family of products.

The almost 13,000 employees of Cone Mills are proud of their part in creating the basic fabrics that are the backbone of American casual fashion... and proud of the satisfaction each fabric gives you.

How to make a McDonald's® Big Mac sandwich at home.

In Theory It Could Be Done.

Everyone knows the recipe: "Two all beef patties, special sauce, lettuce, cheese, pickles, onion, sesame seed bun."

But can you really make a McDonald's Quality Big Mac sandwich at home?

In theory, yes. In reality, here's what you'd have to do:

Sirloin, Too?

Your first test will be meat selection.

McDonald's uses nothing but 100% pure beef (no fillers) from selected cuts, including the chuck, round, and sirloin.

And make it lean—leaner than the ground beef most people buy.

Use Only Quality Ingredients.

Buns are baked to exact specifications (including number and placement of sesame seeds) and inspected at each delivery for size, shape, slicing, taste and freshness.

The cheese is not available at your grocery store. It is McDonald's special-process American, made to our order.

Lettuce, pickles, onions are the highest-quality McDonald's professional buyers can find.

And then there's the special sauce.

Sorry, Can't Tell.

The recipe took many years to develop. We'd really like to give it to you, but it's a closely-guarded secret. You might possibly duplicate it (after some years' time) with your own crash research program.

Install Special Equipment.

Now that you have all the ingredients, you will need some special equipment. A bun toaster, for example. And, of course, a calibrated grill with thermostat probes for precise cooking control.

Sharpen Your Spatula.

When cooking, everything must proceed like clockwork. Patties are seared after a few seconds to seal in the juices. Because of the searing they must be turned with a spatula sharpened and re-sharpened to a knife edge.

Is Your Sandwich Properly Dressed?

Meantime, the sandwich is "dressed," which is our term for assembling ingredients on the bun in proper style and order, the object being to create a masterpiece that looks as good as it tastes.

The Final Test.

Serve hot and fresh or don't serve it at all. That's a McDonald's Quality Big Mac.

And, in theory, you could make it at home.

But wouldn't it be better if you went to McDonald's?

Nobody can do it like McDonald's can™

Brenda,
I've enjoyed having you in class this year.
Best wishes to a nice person.

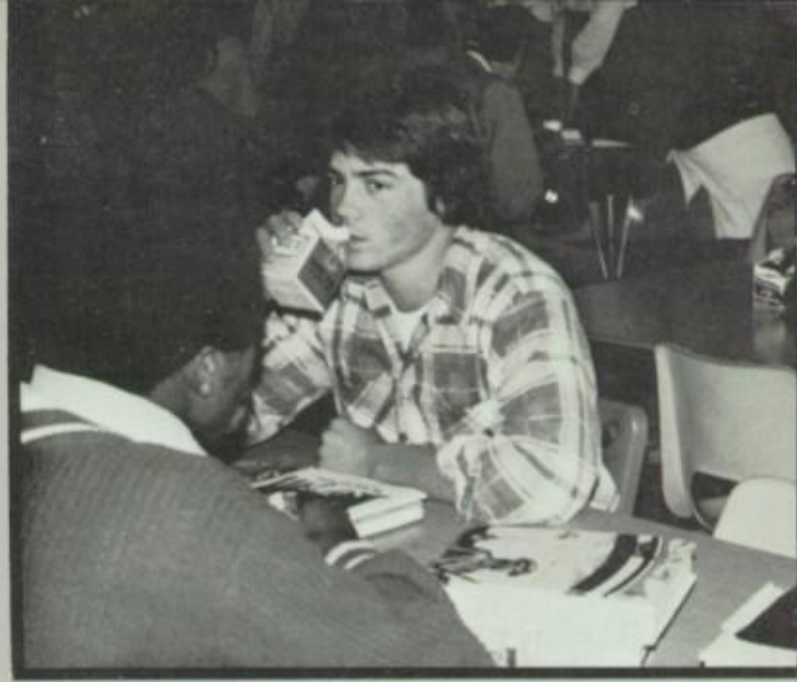

Mrs. James

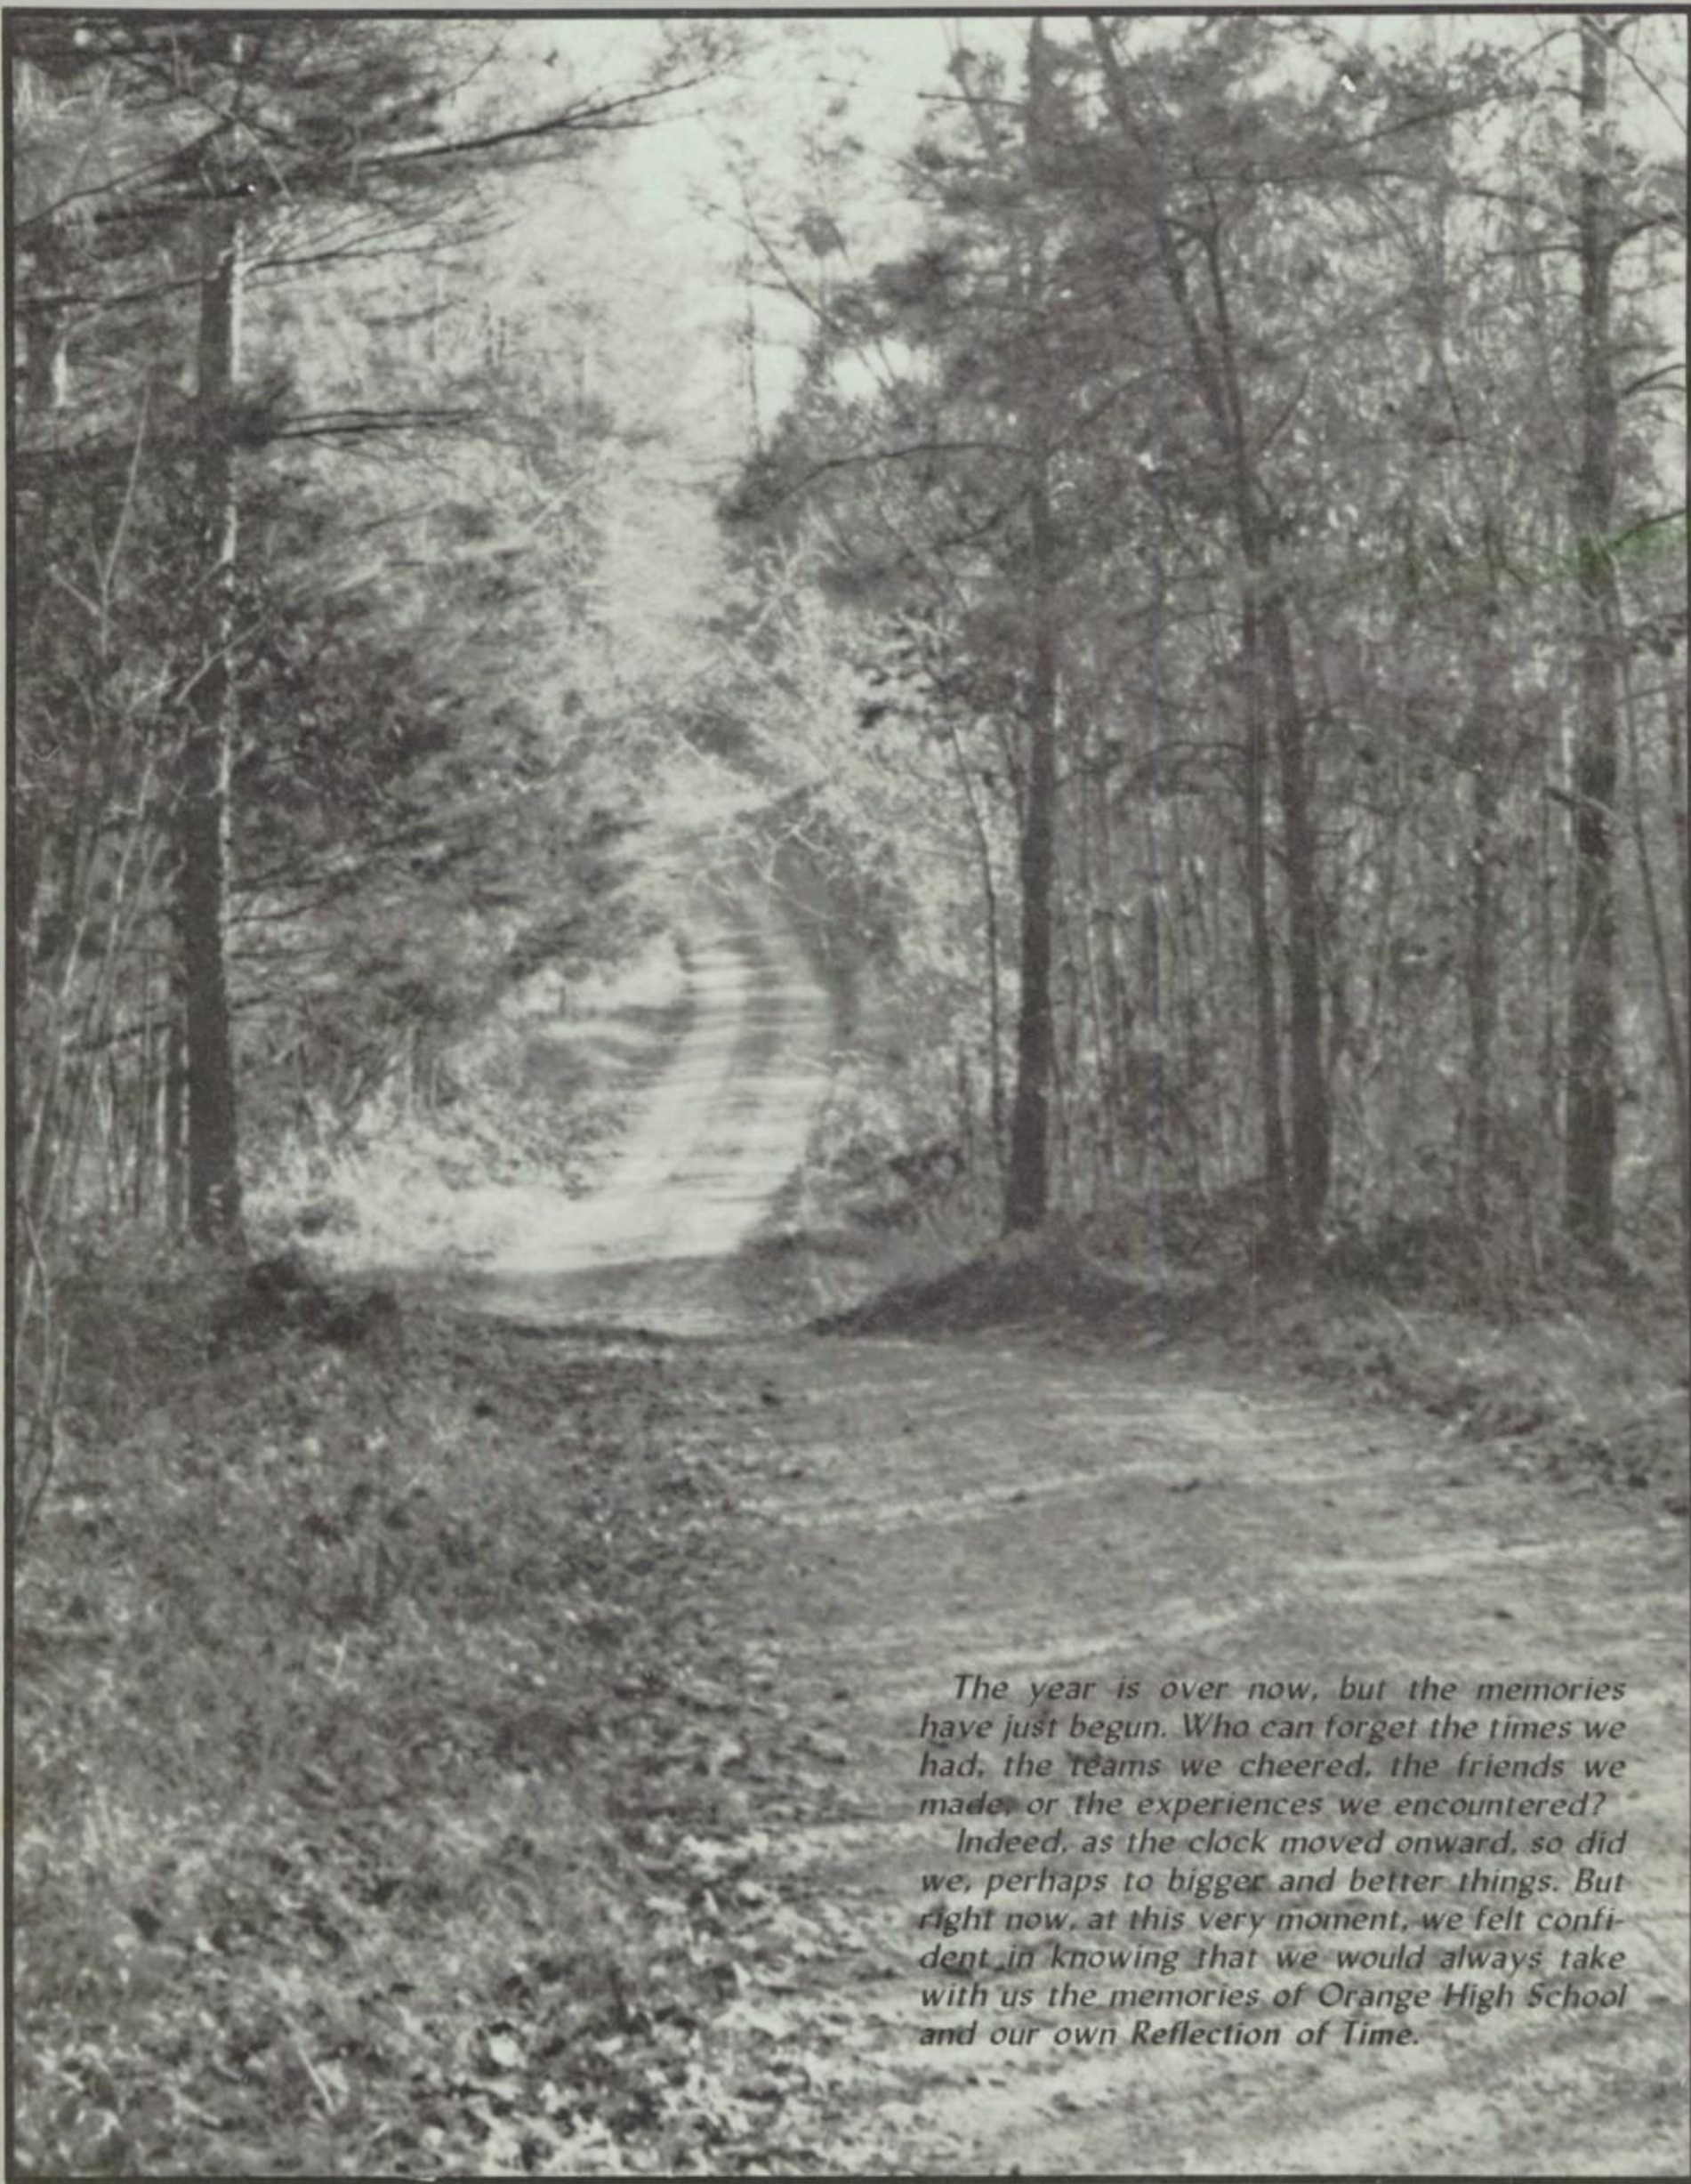

The year is over now, but the memories have just begun. Who can forget the times we had, the teams we cheered, the friends we made, or the experiences we encountered?

Indeed, as the clock moved onward, so did we, perhaps to bigger and better things. But right now, at this very moment, we felt confident in knowing that we would always take with us the memories of Orange High School and our own Reflection of Time.

Brenda,
It has been nice knowing you the past two years. I'll never forget when you put our bus 32 in the ditch near No #10 Depot store. We had some good times in 2nd period fibron Science. Things wouldn't have been the same without me. Wait a minute. I'm suppose to be talking about you. On well. Good luck with Billy and remember no boy is worth jumping out of a car. HA HA
See you later man,

FUTURE . . .

Brenda,
Aw, my favorite page. Well, this has been one hell of a year. We tried to drive Mrs. Moore crazy, but I doubt it worked. Stay sweet and keep in touch.
(Thank God we're out of this hole)
Love ya,
Patricia Woods

Brenda,
It gives me a great pleasure to sign in your yearbook. I wish you all the luck in the world.
Gloria Kayser

Brenda,
I've had a wonderful time this year with you. It's been a very happy time in second period. Good luck in the future

Brenda,
It's been nice knowing you this year. You are a very nice and sweet person. I'll never forget all the good times we had and all the bad ones.
You take good care of yourself.
And good luck in the future.

Friends,

Brenda
It's been nice knowing
you. And being in chorus with you this year has been great. I will miss you.

Love ya

Brenda,
Although we have had our ups-n-downs we are still friends and I hope that our friendship will last for years to come.
Good luck and Best wishes in everything!

 Nine years has been quite a long time to have known you. What can I say, except you haven't changed any at all except, you have grown up alot. It's gonna be hard saying good-bye to you as a "Senior", but I would've had to give me quite last year (wish me luck), I didn't miss you all the fast. Well, I didn't miss please take care best of success in your future, with your future husband (Billy).
 Take Care,

Well the year is almost over and our needs are about to part I hope you feel really guilty cause you'll finally broke my @ a little pain to help you remember the sweetest
 guy you know.
 Brenda forever!

Brenda,

Well it's just about over
and next year you'll be gone.
I'm really gonna miss you next year. Me, Janice, Karen & Tina will be left here next year.
and I know it won't be the same without you guys. We had alot of fun this year. Like the Prom and afterward. We really had a great time. and I'll never forget it either. I wish you all get the best out of life, because you deserve it. But of course you don't need any luck at all. Because you already have it. I wish you and Billy the best of luck. Don't ever let him go, because you've got a good thing,
so hold on to it. You have a great summer
and many years to come.

It's been fun going to Jail. I hope we can do more stuff together next year. maybe give the summer? I hope you get the things that you want most out of life. It's going to be nice not having to go to school!!!

Brenda,

THIS year sure has been fun.
Mrs. Williams' class was one of the best. Can you believe it's over?
Good luck in everything you do. I don't think you need it though because you have the personality to succeed.
I hope we see each other before the "Reunion" (hah - that's 10 years away!).
Stay sweet & keep your smile.

Dear Brenda,
Fifth period was really
been uh... a challenge.
It was nice to have somebody with a brain
in there. It kept me from feeling like I'd been locked in a cage.
(I probably shouldn't have said that) Anyway, you're a terrific girl.
Good luck to TIA and everything else. Friends

To Future Mrs. Billy Bowes:

You expect me to fill up a whole G.D. page!! I bet I can. How do I start? Now comes the beginning of the end. Graduation is only a couple of weeks away and I'm scared shitless! And I'm happy too. I know you are. You've got a good future ahead of you - ~~if~~ if you don't try to parachute out of another hot rod. Or beat up a guy that jumped on Billy.

We've got to go skiing again this summer. Maybe we can get G.T. or the Miller boys to go (don't count on it though). Let's don't forget the races!

Brenda, you're such a good friend to me. I don't know how you've put up with my craziness all these years (since 8th grade). We've both done some really dumb stuff haven't we? I mean really stupid stuff. But that's what growing up is all about, isn't it? And we have done our share.

Wow, It will be over in about three weeks. I can't wait but then I am scared and sad. I know we'll all lose our closeness like we had at Awards Day. It's really a great feeling to think that we've been through all this shit and have come out on top.

I wish you all the good times and happiness and good luck and good fortune and ... may you live a blessed life - and learn from those "blessed" mistakes. BILLY TOO. I hope you stay sweet once I go off to school and can't see you so much. And I bet you'll be more beautiful than you are now. Take care of your family and future family.

Don't forget lunchtimes outside and all the football games and our LAST assembly together and ice skating, Northgate, the wonderful DAIRY FREEZ! Remember how much I ~~have~~ have enjoyed our years together - and hopefully more to come. Remember how special you are.

Love you,

Nancy Taylor

WELL IT'S FINALLY OVER YOU ARE NO LONGER IN HIGH SCHOOL. I GUESS NOW OUR LIVES ARE REALLY STARTING TOGETHER, I MEAN
I REALLY WANT FOR US TO BE TOGETHER FOR THE REST OF OUR LIVES. (IF YOU KNOW WHAT I MEAN) I THINK YOU ARE ONE
HELL OF A LADY AND I THINK YOU HAVE A BRIGHT FUTURE, THAT I HOPE I CAN SHARE WITH YOU. AS IF YOU DIDN'T ALREADY KNOW IT, I LOVE YOU VERY MUCH AND I COULDN'T SURVIVE WITHOUT YOU.
SO PLEASE DON'T JUMP OUT OF ANY MORE CARS. HALHAHA! I WAS REALLY PROUD
OF YOU JUNE-10-1980 YOU WERE SO LOVELY
WHEN YOU WALKED UP FOR YOUR DUE-PROUT.
I SURE HAD FUN DURING THE FUNNEST PART WAS THAT YOU SPENT IT WITH ME. AS I LOOK BACK, IT'S BEEN CLOSE TO
THREE YEARS SINCE WE'VE BEEN DATING
AND I HAVEN'T REGRETTED YOU OR ONE MINUTE OF OUR RELATIONSHIP TOGETHER
I BELIEVE WHAT WE HAVE CAN'T BE CHANGED, NEVER. BECAUSE MY LOVE FOR YOU
BECOMES STRONGER EVERYDAY, EVERY TIME
WE TOUCH. WELL I GUESS I'VE JUST ABOUT
FILLED THIS WHOLE DAMN PAGE UP. SO I'LL COME TO AND END.

one is different, (I wonder why)
It's been a good year, and you helped to make it that way.
It's been a great knowing you.
I hope you get all the love to offer you. Have a great summer. (hope you and Billy have a great life together)

Love you

Brenda,
This year you've been a great friend to me. I wish you still drove our bus because Chris & I suck. I wish you the best in everything because I won't see you anymore. I hope you'll call me sometime. 732-2413

Hey Brenda, I thought that I'd be different and sign my name first and close with yours. A little strange - I know, but you know me! We've had some good times this year - some really crazy ones - and they're all been times that I'll never forget. Let's keep in touch - OK. See ya @ TCA
